No Assurance Given Kennedy By Ohio Dems

Parley with DiSalle Yields No Promise Of Convention Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Democratic presidential hopeful John F. Kennedy, the Massachusetts senator, came to Ohio Tuesday night for assurance of success, he went away disappointed.

Kennedy and Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, flanked by trusted aides, huddled over a 2½-hour dinner. But the best Kennedy could say of the discussion was "useful." DiSalle, a possible Kennedy foe because he is being boomed as Ohio's "favorite son" candidate, described the long conversation as "constructive."

The upshot: Kennedy may return to Ohio late in the autumn for another talk with DiSalle, whom he termed "head of the Democratic party in Ohio."

At the moment, with a four-day Ohio pulse-taking tour ahead of him, Kennedy says he is putting off until early January a decision as to whether he will be an active candidate for the presidency.

Kennedy, after the DiSalle conference, made a hurried trip back to Washington. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is a member, plans to confer late today with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The senator will return to Columbus tonight for an address largely devoted to an account of the Khrushchev conference.

Successing days will take Kennedy to Oxford, Cincinnati, Dayton, Akron, Athens, Toledo, Bowling Green, and Youngstown—barring further interruptions of his schedule.

The heralded Kennedy, DiSalle conference started at the Ohio governor's mansion only 20 minutes after the senator reached the Columbus airport. Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman and Maurice Connell, a DiSalle aide, were present, along with Kennedy's brother, Edward, a recent law school graduate, and John Bailey, Democratic chairman of Connecticut.

Despite the long conference and Kennedy's determination to finish the Ohio tour, DiSalle commented in the senator's presence: "This is not the time for decisions." Kennedy did not dispute the statement.

Kennedy said he and DiSalle discussed "some of the problems faced by those interested in the (Democratic) party nationally—and the importance of Ohio as a key state—the KEY state—because of its geographical location, history, laws and population."

Coleman last week, in an obvious "stop - Kennedy - in - Ohio" move, launched a drive for signatures to petitions urging DiSalle to be Ohio's favorite-son candidate at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles next July.

But, asked by newsmen whether the DiSalle conference produced any suggestion that he stay out of Ohio in his possible quest for delegates, the senator replied, "no."

Asked why he is making a tour of Ohio now and what he hopes to learn, Kennedy replied: "This will give Ohioans a chance to get to know me—and it will help me determine whether I am going to run for president."

Children Urged

To Use Crosswalks

Police Chief Elmer Merriman again urges all local school children to use crosswalks on their journey to and from school.

Chief Merriman pointed out that crosswalks here have been freshly painted, especially for students. For safety's sake he urged that they be used.

The chief said many children have been observed crossing streets between intersections, apparently forgetting about the crosswalks.

Merriman, along with Safety Director Miller Fissel, urged parents to remind their children to use proper pedestrian safety measures. "This also includes observing traffic lights," he added.

Capitalism Helps Farmer, Red Told

BELTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told the head man of world communism today that capitalism helped American farmers develop an agriculture "unequaled anywhere in the world."

Benson made the remark in welcoming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the Agriculture Department's huge experimental center here.

Khrushchev has laid heavy emphasis on agricultural development, Communist style, in his own country, and has boasted the Soviet Union will provide its people with a diet above the high American standard. He made this farm science center the first item on the look-see part of his American visit.

Benson was on hand when Khrushchev arrived at 9:40 a. m. to take him on a tour and show him how America does it.

Benson told Khrushchev: "Our farmers are free, efficient, creative and hardworking. I like to call them 'the salt of the earth'—truly good people."

Benson said American farmers welcome new ideas and are quick to adopt them.

"In putting these discoveries into practice, our farmers transformed American agriculture under our capitalistic free enterprise system. They have developed an agriculture unequaled anywhere in the world in total efficiency, productivity, and prosperity."

Benson explained to Khrushchev—who has predicted the Soviet Union's agriculture some day would help create a living standard superior to the American—how the United States has achieved its present agricultural level. He explained to the visitor how there is "constant give-and-take information between government scientists and those in private industry."

Khrushchev invited Benson to take along farmers and agricultural scientists when the secretary visits the Soviet Union soon. Benson said he hoped he could talk with Soviet farmers the same way Khrushchev will be able to talk to the American ones when the Soviet leader visits Iowa next week.

At one point Khrushchev told Benson, agriculture is basic to human existence because "the first thing one does when he gets up of a morning is to eat."

"You would make a good farmer," replied Benson, himself an ex-farmer.

"I could compete with you," retorted the grinning Khrushchev, who began his career as a shepherd boy and miner.

Red China Again Rebuffed by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U. N. Steering Committee today brushed aside Soviet objections and voted to shelve for another year the question of seating Red China in the world organization.

The postponement was proposed by the United States.

The vote in the 21-nation committee was 12-7 with one abstention.

It still has to be ratified by the full 82-nation General Assembly, but approval was assured.

Voting for the U.S. resolution were the United States, Britain, France, the Philippines, Turkey, Brazil, Union of South Africa, Nationalist China, Liberia, Bolivia, Belgium and Guatemala.

The negative votes were cast by the Soviet Union, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Burma, Indonesia, Sweden and Morocco.

Austria abstained and the assembly president, Peruvian Ambassador Victorio Andrews Belaunde, refrained from voting.

U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth told the committee that any move to act on the issue now would be ill-timed in view of recent Communist actions in Asia.

Although the outcome appeared certain, the debate on the China question was watched with unusual interest because of its possible bearing on the atmosphere of East-West relations during the three-month session.

The proceedings have added significance because they come almost on the eve of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech before the Assembly Friday afternoon. Regardless of the steering committee's decision, Khrushchev was expected to put in a strong bid for his Peiping partners.

Crash Injures Passenger

A passenger was slightly injured in a one-car crash near the Route 23 construction area south of here at 9:30 p. m. yesterday.

Taken to Berger Hospital was Cora Campbell, 60, West Portsmouth. She suffered head and body lacerations and possible head and chest injuries.

The auto was operated by Hester Ann Howard, 52, West Portsmouth. She was not injured.

The driver told Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff that the brakes pulled to the left, forcing the car out of control. Mrs. Campbell fell from the right door of the auto, the deputy said.

Radcliff said the car was not damaged.

Appeals Court Hears School Transfer Case

Stoutsville Local Shift to Logan Elm in Balance

The 5th District Court of Appeals today took under advisement the question of whether the Clearcreek Local School District (Stoutsville) should be transferred to Logan Elm District.

The was no indication by the court as to when a decision will be made.

Arguments for and against the transfer of Clearcreek District were presented before the court in Fairfield Common Pleas Court, Lancaster.

Representing the Fairfield County Board of Education, which has refused to transfer Clearcreek district, was William Knepper, associated with the law firm of Knepper, White, Richards and Roberts, Columbus.

Joseph Asher, Columbus, represented Stoutsville citizens in favor of merging with Logan Elm School District.

ARGUMENTS boiled down to Asher contending that five men, the Fairfield Board of Education, are attempting to override the desire and intentions of the majority of Clearcreek residents to transfer to Logan Elm.

Knepper, in rebuttal, claims that Clearcreek Local residents had no power to present a petition to transfer to Logan Elm.

The Fairfield Board of Education had no power to certify the Clearcreek transfer petition to the Fairfield County Board of Elections.

The Fairfield County Board of Elections had no power to place the transfer petition on the Nov. 4, 1958 general election ballot, and that the Fairfield Board of Education has no power to transfer the Clearcreek Local to Logan Elm even today.

The issue arose when a group of more than 500 Clearcreek residents presented a petition to the Fairfield board requesting the issue of transfer to Logan Elm be placed on the ballot.

The Board complied and certified the petition to the Fairfield election board which in turn placed the transfer issue on the ballot.

By a vote of 388 to 266, more than the required 55 per cent, voters approved the transfer.

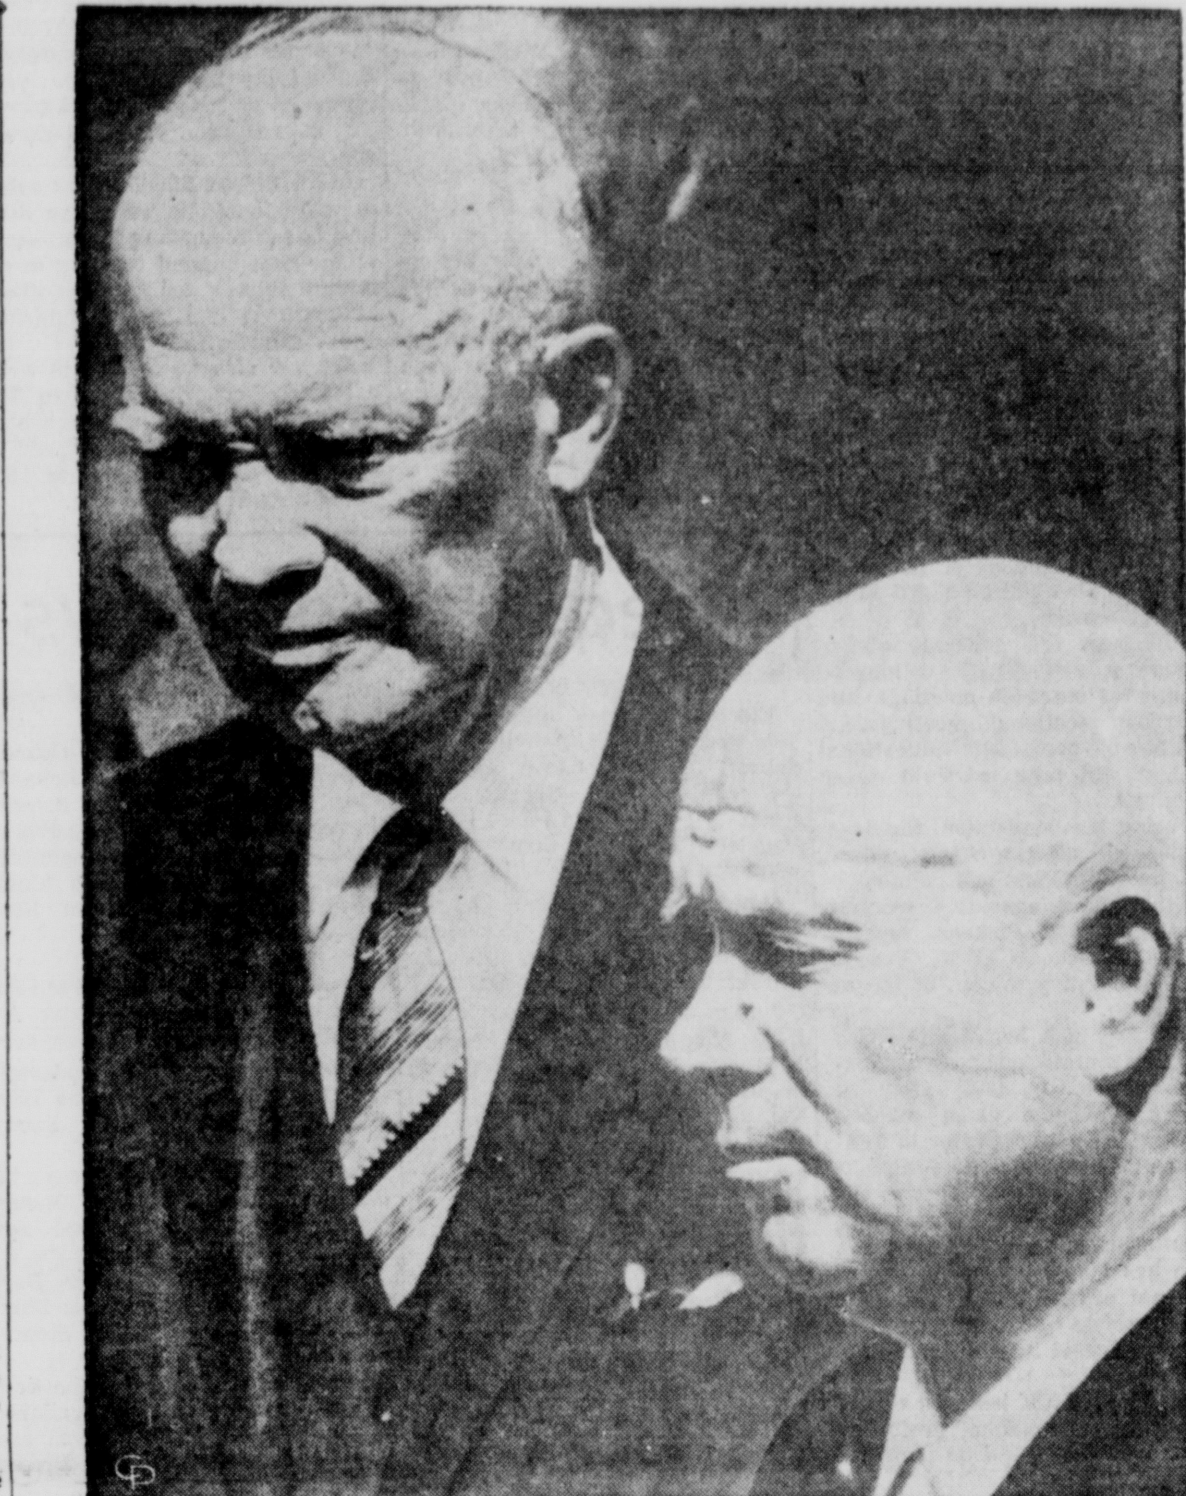

The Fairfield Board of Education then refused to transfer the territory after it was accepted by both the Pickaway County and Logan Elm Boards of Education.

The Fairfield Board disapproved the election saying the election was not duly and legally constituted.

IT REFERRED TO what it termed "false and misleading representation of the issue on the ballot" which stated that the transfer was subject to the acceptance by the Clearcreek Local Board of Education which voted 3-2 against the move.

Asher filed a writ of mandamus with the Appeals Court demanding.

Nikita Readies New Plan for Disarmament

Proposal Scheduled To Be Presented in Talk Before U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared today that Russia and the United States must find ways to use nuclear power and rocket science for peace or "the earth will be covered with ashes and graves."

In his first major speech on American soil, the Soviet Communist leader said that in the search for peace "it is necessary for each side to meet the other half way."

He announced to a National Press Club luncheon audience that he intends to submit a new proposal on disarmament to the United Nations. He will address the U.N. General Assembly in New York Friday.

He said he hopes this proposal "will play an important part in the solution" of the disarmament problem, "the most burning issue of our time."

Khrushchev renewed his demands for a peace treaty with Germany, meaning West Germany and Communist East Germany, without waiting for unification as the Western powers insist.

In this connection he launched an attack on West Germany. He said "certain quarters in West Germany are harboring plans for setting the Soviet Union and the other powers at loggerheads, aggravating the relations between them and keeping the world in a state of international tension."

An impromptu interview developed at a reception at the National Press Club and the Soviet leader was asked whether he has yet changed any conceptions he had about the United States.

"No," he quickly replied.

"He was asked what has thus far impressed him the most."

"Despite the strong propaganda against the Soviet Union and the Communist party and me as its leader, the American public is giving me a good, warm reception. This shows the public realizes the need for friendship with the Soviet Union," he replied.

"One might not respect our political views, but since we are living on one planet we must try to live together."

"We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We don't gobble up babies. After all, we eat the same food you do—a little meat, a little potatoes."

The Soviet Premier, standing calmly in the midst of reporters with his hands folded across his stomach, answered questions quickly and with apparent ease.

Khrushchev dropped a hint of his primary theme Tuesday night. In an exchange of toasts with President Eisenhower during a White House state dinner, the Soviet leader noted that the United States and the U.S.S.R. are too strong to permit quarreling between them.

He added: "If we were weak countries, then it would be another matter, because when the weak quarrel, they are just scratching each other's faces and it takes just a couple of days for a cosmetician and everything comes out right again. But, if we quarrel, then not only our countries can suffer colossal damage, but the other countries of the world will also be involved in a word shambles."

This is the note the Soviet leader sounded long ago—that if the Soviet Union and the United States, as the two most powerful countries on earth, could settle their differences, the whole world's problems could be solved. It was this idea which apparently caused some suspicion among the United States' allies: that the two great nations might come to an agreement at their expense. But Eisenhower has repeatedly emphasized, as he did in welcoming Khrushchev, that "we shall not be negotiating any issues affecting the interests of other countries."

About 200,000 persons lined the streets to watch Khrushchev's entry into the nation's capital. The crowds generally were quiet, un-demonstrative, sometimes even cold to the visitor although polite waves of clapping greeted him.

Huge Ohio School Expansion Program Will Cause Need for More Tax Money

This is the second of a three-part series concerning school finances and educational problems facing Circleville and Ohio school systems. The series is a digest of a speech presented Monday night to the Circleville Kiwanis Club by T. G. O'Keefe, director of research of the Ohio Education Assn.

Providing an education for Ohio's 1,800,000 public school children requires much personal effort on the part of some 5,000 Ohio citizens who were elected to guide the destinies of the state's vast educational program, which includes 994 school districts.

In addition there are about 70,000 persons employed as teachers, principals, superintendents and an additional 30,000 other employees who operate Ohio schools.

This year Ohio taxpayers will spend in excess of half a billion dollars to operate schools. About 35 per cent of the total cost is paid by the state.

State taxes for schools are derived from many sources which include sales taxes (the major portion), intangible taxes, liquor taxes and cigarette taxes.

WHILE THE number of dollars spent per child does not always reflect the quality of our educational system, the United States Chamber of Commerce has found that in states with the highest expenditures for schools, there will be found the best markets and a higher standard of living.

Historically, Ohio has depended largely on the property tax to finance public education.

However, during the years of the great depression, Ohio turned to the sales, cigarette, liquid fuel and intangible taxes as additional sources of revenue. These taxes were earmarked in part or in whole for public education.

In 1939, just before World War II, all earmarking for school taxes was abandoned. Today, the only earmarked tax, of any magnitude, is the highway tax (gasoline).

Ever since the state changed its policy of earmarking taxes for schools at the state level. In 1936, the state assumed 48 per cent of the operating costs of schools — today it is only 35 to 38 per cent.

Certainly one cannot advocate the earmarking of taxes for any particular phase of our government because adjustments are necessary in budgets, depending upon the needs of the people.

HOWEVER, providing a sound educational program for Ohio's youth is going to demand greater and greater appropriations from the State of Ohio and from each community.

Furthermore because of the tremendous Federal tax load on the people, it is a possibility that the Federal Government may have to step in to finance education in the states.

For example, the Federal Government is taking out of Ohio in taxes about $5½ billion. When we compare this tax load with the tax budget, which is now $1 billion a year, one can readily see that unless the Federal Government lightens the tax burden, or begins returning some of its income to the states, we are going to be in financial difficulty.

There are two major factors creating a rapidly approaching

WHILE THE number of dollars spent per child does not always reflect the quality of our educational system, the United States Chamber of Commerce has found that in states with the highest expenditures for schools, there will be found the best markets and a higher standard of living.

Historically, Ohio has depended largely on the property tax to finance public education.

However, during the years of the great depression, Ohio turned to the sales, cigarette, liquid fuel and intangible taxes as additional sources of revenue. These taxes were earmarked in part or in whole for public education.

In 1939, just before World War II, all earmarking for school taxes was abandoned. Today, the only earmarked tax, of any magnitude, is the highway tax (gasoline).

Ever since the state changed its policy of earmarking taxes for schools at the state level. In 1936, the state assumed 48 per cent of the operating costs of schools — today it is only 35 to 38 per cent.

Certainly one cannot advocate the earmarking of taxes for any particular phase of our government because adjustments are necessary in budgets, depending upon the needs of the people.

HOWEVER, providing a sound educational program for Ohio's youth is going to demand greater and greater appropriations from the State of Ohio and from each community.

Furthermore because of the tremendous Federal tax load on the people, it is a possibility that the Federal Government may have to step in to finance education in the states.

For example, the Federal Government is taking out of Ohio in taxes about $5½ billion. When we compare this tax load with the tax budget, which is now $1 billion a year, one can readily see that unless the Federal Government lightens the tax burden, or begins returning some of its income to the states, we are going to be in financial difficulty.

Nikita Readies New Plan for Disarmament

Proposal Scheduled To Be Presented in Talk Before U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared today that Russia and the United States must find ways to use nuclear power and rocket science for peace or "the earth will be covered with ashes and graves."

In his first major speech on American soil, the Soviet Communist leader said that in the search for peace "it is necessary for each side to meet the other half way."

He announced to a National Press Club luncheon audience that he intends to submit a new proposal on disarmament to the United Nations. He will address the U.N. General Assembly in New York Friday.

He said he hopes this proposal "will play an important part in the solution" of the disarmament problem, "the most burning issue of our time."

Khrushchev renewed his demands for a peace treaty with Germany, meaning West Germany and Communist East Germany, without waiting for unification as the Western powers insist.

In this connection he launched an attack on West Germany. He said "certain quarters in West Germany are harboring plans for setting the Soviet Union and the other powers at loggerheads, aggravating the relations between them and keeping the world in a state of international tension."

An impromptu interview developed at a reception at the National Press Club and the Soviet leader was asked whether he has yet changed any conceptions he had about the United States.

"No," he quickly replied.

"He was asked what has thus far impressed him the most."

"Despite the strong propaganda against the Soviet Union and the Communist party and me as its leader, the American public is giving me a good, warm reception. This shows the public realizes the need for friendship with the Soviet Union," he replied.

"One might not respect our political views, but since we are living on one planet we must try to live together."

"We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We don't gobble up babies. After all, we eat the same food you do—a little meat, a little potatoes."

The Soviet Premier, standing calmly in the midst of reporters with his hands folded across his stomach, answered questions quickly and with apparent ease.

Khrushchev dropped a hint of his primary theme Tuesday night. In an exchange of toasts with President Eisenhower during a White House state dinner, the Soviet leader noted that the United States and the U.S.S.R. are too strong to permit quarreling between them.

He added: "If we were weak countries, then it would be another matter, because when the weak quarrel, they are just scratching each other's faces and it takes just a couple of days for a cosmetician and everything comes out right again. But, if we quarrel, then not only our countries can suffer colossal damage, but the other countries of the world will also be involved in a word shambles."

This is the note the Soviet leader sounded long ago—that if the Soviet Union and the United States, as the two most powerful countries on earth, could settle their differences, the whole world's problems could be solved.

It was this idea which apparently caused some suspicion among the United States' allies: that the two great nations might come to an agreement at their expense. But Eisenhower has repeatedly emphasized, as he did in welcoming Khrushchev, that "we shall not be negotiating any issues affecting the interests of other countries."

About 200,000 persons lined the streets to watch Khrushchev's entry into the nation's capital. The crowds generally were quiet, un-demonstrative, sometimes even cold to the visitor although polite waves of clapping greeted him.

Lions Hear Address on Mental Ills

Glenn Morris, administrative assistant for the State Department of Mental Hygiene, presented an interesting talk before the local Lions Club last night.

The address was given following a dinner at the Wardell Party Home on Route 22.

Morris gave a detailed description of the operation of his department. He said the State's mental hygiene program centers on the care of mentally retarded and mentally deficient patients.

He said approximately 50 per cent of all hospital beds occupied in the United States are for the care of mental patients.

ACCORDING to Morris, there are 25 institutions and schools in Ohio for care and treatment of mental patients. They include 13 facilities for prolonged cases, two psychiatric schools for children (one to be built), three psychiatric schools for adults, four receiving hospitals and four state schools and institutions.

The speaker explained the heavy burden of mental cases in Ohio, saying that there were 36,195 mental patients in the state as of June of this year. The state has 13,500 employees in its institutions and schools, he said.

Morris said the cost of caring for these patients each year costs the State more than $52 million. He said the State has been fortunate to hold the cost per patient to $2.95 per day.

The speaker said Ohio ranks high in the nation in care of its mental patients. He said Ohio is one of the few states to provide psychiatric training classes and occupational and physical therapy programs.

Annual Teacher Meet Friday

No Classes Slated For City, County

Nearly 11,000 teachers and school administrators from 18 central Ohio counties, including Pickaway County, will hear the titular head of the nation's public schools Friday. There will be no classes.

Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick, U. S. Commissioner of Education, will be the main speaker at the 88th annual convention of the Central Ohio Teachers Assn., which will be held in Columbus. Superintendents G. A. Hartman and George D. McDowell said that Circleville and Pickaway County schools will be closed all day Friday to enable 108 local teachers and 193 county teachers to attend the convention.

Dr. Derthick has taken the theme of the convention, "The State of the Nation — Education," as the title of his address. He will speak at the general session, which will be held in St. John Arena.

DR. HAROLD H. EIBLING, superintendent of the Columbus Public Schools; Thomas J. Quick, superintendent of Franklin County schools; Dr. Walton B. Bliss, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Assn., and Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, also will be heard at the general session.

Following the general session, educators will divide into 30 groups for luncheon meetings and afternoon sectional meetings. A number of prominent educational leaders will take part in these meetings.

During the convention, the association will elect a new president, vice-president, and one member of the three-man executive committee. Charles J. Pickens, superintendent of schools at Mt. Vernon, is the current president of the organization.

Dr. Derthick became the 14th U. S. Commissioner of Education on Dec. 19, 1956, after 30 years of service as a teacher and school administrator in Tennessee. Immediately before taking the national post, he was superintendent of the Chattanooga Public Schools for 14 years.

He has long been active in professional organizations, and is a past-president of the American Assn. of School Administrators.

DR. DERTHICK believes strongly that the educational profession and the public should be informed currently of the problems and progress of American education and implications for our schools and colleges in national and international developments and events.

To gain firsthand information on the organization and operation of Soviet schools and colleges, Dr. Derthick directed a United States mission of 10 educational leaders on a 7000-mile tour throughout the Soviet Union in 1958.

Though impressed by the seriousness of the educational effort being made by the Russians, Dr. Derthick returned to the United States deeply convinced of the soundness of our democratic philosophy of education.

Dr. Derthick left no doubt about his stand on the touchy question of federal-state relations in education when he assumed his present post. He declared: "The federal contribution in the total endeavor for education should be leadership without domination and assistance without interference. Control of education rests with the states and communities, and should remain there."

Fund Training Session Set

Training and information meetings about the upcoming Pickaway County Community Fund business campaign are scheduled for 7:30 p. m. tomorrow and noon Friday in the basement of Benny's Restaurant.

All interested businessmen are urged to attend one of the sessions. Local merchants have received a letter asking that Community Fund representatives be appointed for each business. Those persons are to be trained at the meetings.

Gordon Fraser, PCCF training chairman, will conduct the meetings.

Chairman of the Business Division is Ed Ebert and Frank Barnhill is vice chairman. Captains are Romaine (Red) Wilson, Clarence Radcliffe, Leroy Slusser, Ray Parcher and John Robinson.

City Council Hears Complaint On Abandoned Sewer Hazard

In an abbreviated session last night City Council passed an ordinance, heard a couple others and considered just one major problem.

A pay raise for the parking meter maintenance man and supervisor was approved by the solons by a 5-0 vote. The boost is from $225 to $240 a month.

Only five councilmen were present and the measure was passed on its third reading. Absent were President Richard Penn, David Crawford and D. J. Carpenter.

Since the required six votes to suspend the three-reading rule were not available, all other legislation was placed on either first or second reading.

Two citizens, Mrs. Paul Woodward, 125 Mingo St., and Mrs. Bern Shidaker, 129 Mingo St., spoke to Council about an abandoned sewer which runs through their properties.

THEY REPORTED that the sewer is crumbling beneath the ground and that holes are developing in their yards. They asked the city to remedy the situation.

City Solicitor Robert Huffer declared that the problem has been investigated, but there is some doubt as to whether the city has the obligation to fix the abandoned sewer.

Carl Radcliff, city service director, reported that the bottom of the sewer is about 13 feet below the surface. The city service department cannot repair the sewer, he reported, because of the magnitude of the job and the unusual skill required.

The sewer was abandoned in 1935. It reportedly was built in 1849 and runs from the area of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Mingo St., north to Hargus Creek. A hole has appeared in the Woodward yard and another has appeared near the back porch of the Shidaker property.

After considerable discussion, Huffer agreed to determine just what is the city's liability.

Placed on second reading was an ordinance appropriating $10,500 for the Water Department to purchase the old Ike Barnes lumber yard property at north and Pickaway Sts. as a storage yard and garage site.

Clerk Robert Shadley was asked to write to Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb requesting his presence at the next Council meeting to explain a request for $2,300 additional appropriation for Municipal Court salaries.

Shadley also was asked to write a letter of congratulations to Rex Haacker, local man who has been named supervisor of school and libraries division of the state auditor's Bureau of Inspection.

Appeals . . .

ing the transfer of the Clearcreek, bypassing the Fairfield Common Pleas Court.

Among points argued by the Fairfield Board today is that Clearcreek Local residents couldn't petition for a transfer to another local school district of another county, but instead had to petition for a transfer to another school district within Fairfield County.

Knepper maintained that only a county board could accept a local school district of another county and has discretionary powers as to where the territory will be placed.

Asher contended that both Logan Elm and Pickaway County school boards accepted Clearcreek Local and that was where it would go. He said that geographic location requires it be placed in Logan Elm.

Then Knepper stated that since it is illegal to transfer local school districts into other local school districts, the Fairfield school board should not have certified an illegal petition and the Fairfield Board of Elections should not have placed the illegal petition on the ballot.

He said the ballot was deceptive in that it led voters to believe that the district would not be transferred unless the Clearcreek Local Board of Education agreed.

Asher said it was known before the election that the Clearcreek Board was against merging with Logan Elm.

KNEPPER STATED that the ballot also was deceptive in that it stated the district would transfer to Logan Elm when by law it could only be transferred to Pickaway County which may have placed it in another school district other than Logan Elm.

Knepper contended that since Logan Elm's taxes are 16.7 mills for school purposes and Clearcreek's are only 15 mills that, in effect, Clearcreek voters were bailing on a tax increase.

Asher countered by saying that whenever a school district or any political subdivision transfers it takes the chance that taxes may be higher and that is understood by all.

Asher said everyone concerned was satisfied except the Fairfield County Board of Education which is using a "mere" legal technicality to retain the Clearcreek Local in its jurisdiction.

Knepper's final argument held that by legislative power, a county school board can not transfer a local school district to another local school district, but in these instances, transfers must go through the State Board of Education.

The court and both attorneys agreed that it seemed as though this case and its circumstances was the first to arise in Ohio. The three judges promised to give every consideration to both sides.

Presiding Judge Robert B. Putman, was flanked by Judge C. B. McClintock and D. Dean McLaughlin.

Nearly 50 Stoutsville and Clearcreek Twp. residents were on hand to witness the proceedings.

New Holland Budget Filed

$290 Balance Eyed For 1960 Operations

The Village of New Holland may wind up 1960 with $290 in the treasury. That is the prospect according to the annual budget filed by village officials with the county auditor.

Receipts for 1960 are set at $9,357 and expenditures are estimated at $9,067. General fund receipts include:

General property taxes of $6,000, a $1,000 increase over 1959; sales taxes, $2,800 for a $445 increase over 1959;

Lions Hear Address on Mental Ills

Glenn Morris, administrative assistant for the State Department of Mental Hygiene, presented an interesting talk before the local Lions Club last night.

The address was given following a dinner at the Wardell Party Home on Route 22.

Morris gave a detailed description of the operation of his department. He said the State's mental hygiene program centers on the care of mentally retarded and mentally deficient patients.

He said approximately 50 per cent of all hospital beds occupied in the United States are for the care of mental patients.

ACCORDING to Morris, there are 25 institutions and schools in Ohio for care and treatment of mental patients. They include 13 facilities for prolonged cases, two psychiatric schools for children (one to be built), three psychiatric schools for adults, four receiving hospitals and four state schools and institutions.

The speaker explained the heavy burden of mental cases in Ohio, saying that there were 36,195 mental patients in the state as of June of this year. The state has 13,500 employees in its institutions and schools, he said.

Morris said the cost of caring for these patients each year costs the State more than $52 million. He said the State has been fortunate to hold the cost per patient to $2.95 per day.

The speaker said Ohio ranks high in the nation in care of its mental patients. He said Ohio is one of the few states to provide psychiatric training classes and occupational and physical therapy programs.

Annual Teacher Meet Friday

No Classes Slated For City, County

Nearly 11,000 teachers and school administrators from 18 central Ohio counties, including Pickaway County, will hear the titular head of the nation's public schools Friday. There will be no classes.

Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick, U. S. Commissioner of Education, will be the main speaker at the 88th annual convention of the Central Ohio Teachers Assn., which will be held in Columbus. Superintendents G. A. Hartman and George D. McDowell said that Circleville and Pickaway County schools will be closed all day Friday to enable 108 local teachers and 193 county teachers to attend the convention.

Derthick has taken the theme of the convention, "The State of the Nation — Education," as the title of his address. He will speak at the general session, which will be held in St. John Arena.

DR. HAROLD H. EIBLING, superintendent of the Columbus Public Schools; Thomas J. Quick, superintendent of Franklin County schools; Dr. Walton B. Bliss, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Assn., and Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, also will be heard at the general session.

Following the general session, educators will divide into 30 groups for luncheon meetings and afternoon sectional meetings. A number of prominent educational leaders will take part in these meetings.

During the convention, the association will elect a new president, vice-president, and one member of the three-man executive committee. Charles J. Pickens, superintendent of schools at Mt. Vernon, is the current president of the organization.

Dr. Derthick became the 14th U. S. Commissioner of Education on Dec. 19, 1956, after 30 years of service as a teacher and school administrator in Tennessee. Immediately before taking the national post, he was superintendent of the Chattanooga Public Schools for 14 years.

He has long been active in professional organizations, and is a past-president of the American Assn. of School Administrators.

DR. DERTHICK believes strongly that the educational profession and the public should be informed currently of the problems and progress of American education and implications for our schools and colleges in national and international developments and events.

To gain firsthand information on the organization and operation of Soviet schools and colleges, Dr. Derthick directed a United States mission of 10 educational leaders on a 7,000-mile tour throughout the Soviet Union in 1958.

Though impressed by the seriousness of the educational effort being made by the Russians, Dr. Derthick returned to the United States deeply convinced of the soundness of our democratic philosophy of education.

Dr. Derthick left no doubt about his stand on the touchy question of federal-state relations in education when he assumed his present post. He declared: "The federal contribution in the total endeavor for education should be leadership without domination and assistance without interference. Control of education rests with the states and communities, and should remain there."

Fund Training Session Set

Training and information meetings about the upcoming Pickaway County Community Fund business campaign are scheduled for 7:30 p. m. tomorrow and noon Friday in the basement of Benny's Restaurant.

All interested businessmen are urged to attend one of the sessions. Local merchants have received a letter asking that Community Fund representatives be appointed for each business. Those persons are to be trained at the meetings.

Gordon Fraser, PCCF training chairman, will conduct the meetings. Chairman of the Business Division is Ed Ebert and Frank Barnhill is vice chairman. Captains are Romaine (Red) Wilson, Clarence Radcliffe, Leroy Slusser, Ray Parcher and John Robinson.

City Council Hears Complaint On Abandoned Sewer Hazard

In an abbreviated session last night City Council passed one ordinance, heard a couple others and considered just one major problem.

A pay raise for the parking meter maintenance man and supervisor was approved by the solons by a 5-0 vote. The boost is from $225 to $240 a month.

Only five councilmen were present and the measure was passed on its third reading. Absent were President Richard Penn, David Crawford and D. J. Carpenter.

Since the required six votes to suspend the three-reading rule were not available, all other legislation was placed on either first or second reading.

Two citizens, Mrs. Paul Woodward, 125 Mingo St., and Mrs. Bern Shidaker, 129 Mingo St., spoke to Council about an abandoned sewer which runs through their properties.

THEY REPORTED that the sewer is crumbling beneath the ground and that holes are developing in their yards. They asked the city to remedy the situation.

City Solicitor Robert Huffer declared that the problem has been investigated, but there is some doubt as to whether the city has the obligation to fix the abandoned sewer.

Carl Radcliffe, city service director, reported that the bottom of the sewer is about 13 feet below the surface. The city service department cannot repair the sewer, he reported, because of the magnitude of the job and the unusual skill required.

The sewer was abandoned in 1935. It reportedly was built in 1849 and runs from the area of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Mingo St., north to Hargus Creek. A hole has appeared in the Woodward yard and another has appeared near the back porch of the Shidaker property.

After considerable discussion, Huffer agreed to determine just what is the city's liability.

Placed on second reading was an ordinance appropriating $10,500 for the Water Department to purchase the old lake Barnes lumber yard property at Ohio and Pickaway Sts. as a storage yard and garage site.

Clerk Robert Shadley was asked to write to Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb requesting his presence at the next Council meeting to explain a request for $2,300 additional appropriation for Municipal Court salaries.

Shadley also was asked to write a letter of congratulations to Rex Haack, local man who has been named supervisor of school and libraries division of the state auditor's Bureau of Inspection.

ing the transfer of the Clearcreek, bypassing the Fairfield Common Pleas Court.

Among points argued by the Fairfield Board today is that Clearcreek Local residents couldn't petition for a transfer to another local school district of another county, but instead had to petition for a transfer to another school district within Fairfield County.

Knepper maintained that only a county board could accept a local school district of another county and has discretionary powers as to where the territory will be placed.

Asher contended that both Logan Elm and Pickaway County school boards accepted Clearcreek Local and that was where it would go. He said that geographic location requires it be placed in Logan Elm.

Then Knepper stated that since it is illegal to transfer local school districts into other local school districts, the Fairfield school board should not have certified an illegal petition and the Fairfield Board of Elections should not have placed the illegal petition on the ballot.

He said the ballot was deceptive in that it led voters to believe that the district would not be transferred unless the Clearcreek Local Board of Education agreed.

Asher said it was known before the election that the Clearcreek Board was against merging with Logan Elm.

KNEPPER STATED that the ballot also was deceptive in that it stated the district would transfer to Logan Elm when by law it could only be transferred to Pickaway County which may have placed it in another school district other than Logan Elm.

Knepper contended that since Logan Elm's taxes are 16.7 mills for school purposes and Clearcreek's are only 15 mills that, in effect, Clearcreek voters were balancing on a tax increase.

Asher countered by saying that whenever a school district or any political subdivision transfers it takes the chance that taxes may be higher and that is understood by all.

Asher said everyone concerned was satisfied except the Fairfield County Board of Education which is using a "mere" legal technicality to retain the Clearcreek Local in its jurisdiction.

Knepper's final argument held that by legislative power, a county school board can not transfer a local school district to another local school district, but in these instances, transfers must go through the State Board of Education.

The court and both attorneys agreed that it seemed as though this case and its circumstances was the first to arise in Ohio. The three judges promised to give every consideration to both sides.

Presiding Judge Robert B. Putnam, was flanked by Judge C. B. McClintock and D. Dean McLaughlin.

Nearly 50 Stoutsville and Clearcreek Twp. residents were on hand to witness the proceedings.

A VALUABLE COUPONS In Thursdays Herald Redeem Them at Krogers A

Mobility Is the Key Word For New Fashions in '59

By JOAN LIST
Herald Staff Writer

In the past few years women have seen styles come and go. The familiar sack and chemise have bowed out of the picture and the look for '59 is mobility.

Mobility is a key word, perhaps the word of the jet age. It informs the fluid silhouette with graceful feminine lines that are so becoming to every woman.

Furs are many and numerous including mink, leopard and fox. Fur collars, circlets and lavish stoles have never been so popular.

Looking around the local stores, I found that much of the fur trimmings are synthetic and detachable. Good news for the wise shopper.

BOLD PLAIDS and tweeds are predominant in sports wear and coats.

Coats follow in general straight or slightly flared lines. Armholes are deeper and sleeves slightly fuller in cut. While the busy woman of today feels that her wardrobe must have more than one cold weather garment, these coats will prove extremely adaptable with every type of garment worn beneath.

The fall suit for '59 will offer many new and different styles.

Coat suits will be featured for the fashion conscious woman. Wool tweeds with fur trim can be worn in town or country and offer warmth as well as classic beauty.

Jackets are markedly longer and a shade more fitted (or, conversely, boxier)—and they are everywhere. Smart new fabrics and colors allow them to be worn with many different dresses and skirts.

Soft knits also will be popular in dresses and suit dresses.

FOR THE casual mood, sepa-

rates continue with even bigger, bolder plaids.

Our local stores have many mix-match separates in new colors with more variety in combination.

The bulky knit sweaters are still on top with the new shaggy or brushed effect sweaters following close behind.

Fall dresses in soft wools and jersey will emphasize the figure. Waistlines are back where they belong! Sheath dresses will be mostly classic in design with emphasis on accessories worn with them. Crepe and print dresses also will be featured.

Despite the over-the-fence shout-in between houses of fashions in Paris over skirt length, they seem to be a little lower for fall and should hit at about mid-calf.

Good news is in store for the women who dread walking in the pointed toe, slender heeled shoe.

YOU MIGHT catch pneumonia or something in this variant of Nina Ricci's "signature" evening dress of pale blue silk taffeta cut with a lightly interlaced fichu stole. The photo was made in Paris for Pelton.

Ohio Senators Vote Yes
WASHINGTON (AP) — Voting with the majority Monday night, as the Senate approved extending the life of the federal Civil Rights Commission, were Ohio Democratic Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young.

Merchants Optimistic on Fashions

Cool days are coming and local merchants have their stores full of exciting new fashions to fit every woman's figure and pocketbook!

There is an old saying of the business world that a salesman must be sold on the product himself if he is to successfully present it to the buyers.

If this is true the '59 fall season should prove to be a most pleasing one to ladies of fashion.

As has become the custom, local sales personnel were asked what they thought of this season's fashions.

ALTHOUGH there were variations of what impressed each merchant the most, there was similarity in the overall view for '59. Here are some comments heard here:

MISS PLUMMER of Goldsmith's: "Fall clothes are colorful, in good taste and just beautiful." Miss Plummer especially liked the new color, raspberry red, used particularly in sweaters.

ZANE ISEBERG of Grants: "Loden green is the color and bedford cord is the fabric for women this fall."

AARON LUMPE of Caddy Millers: "Men's styles haven't made any drastic changes for fall, but sweaters with shawl collars and especially the tyrolean-style hats are new."

MRS. RAYMOND BARR of the Val-U Shop: "I think fall fashions are very good and I especially like the two-piece suit."

MISS DOTTIE BOGGS of Deb Shop: "Raccoon coats will be good this fall for the younger set as well as adults. Sapphire, jade and amber are new shades in color and I like the new pop-over or 'floating tops' sweaters."

MISS BENADINE YATES of

Butch's: "More beads! With larger strands they will be popular this fall. Bright colors such as blue, gunmetal, brown, black, red and green will be favorites."

MRS. GAIL WOLFE of Penney's: "The ensemble look is bigger and better. Dyed-to-match sweaters and skirts, coordinate cropped jackets and skirts are all top want items."

MISS PALM of Sharff's: "I think this fall's fashions are tops." Mrs. Harry Turner: "I especially like the new walking suits, the bold mix-match sports clothes and the tapered slacks."

NAT LEFKO of Rothman's: "Fall styles are more on the conservative trend, not radical of previous years and more down to earth in style and simplicity. Most women and surely men will welcome this trend."

Venerable Vegetable
NEW YORK — Brussels sprouts are a venerable vegetable. The first ones were found growing near Brussels, Belgium, in 1213. But they were not grown commercially in the United States until 1909, when farmers planted them in California's Pedro Valley.

Today Brussels sprouts are a 50-million pound a year business in this country with California producing 85 per cent of the annual crop. Ninety-six per cent of the crop is frozen for year-round use.

Line sherbet glasses with lady fingers (cut in half crosswise so they won't be too tall), fill with lemon-flavored pie filling. Serve with a garnish of whipped evaporated milk or cream.

Mobility Is the Key Word For New Fashions in '59

By JOAN LIST
Herald Staff Writer

In the past few years women have seen styles come and go. The familiar sack and chemise have bowed out of the picture and the look for '59 is mobility.

Mobility is a key word, perhaps the word of the jet age. It informs the fluid silhouette with graceful feminine lines that are so becoming to every woman.

Furs are many and numerous including mink, leopard and fox. Fur collars, circlets and lavish stoles have never been so popular.

Looking around the local stores, I found that much of the fur trimmings are synthetic and detachable. Good news for the wise shopper.

BOLD PLAIDS and tweeds are predominant in sports wear and coats.

Coats follow in general straight

or slightly flared lines. Armholes are deeper and sleeves slightly fuller in cut. While the busy woman of today feels that her wardrobe must have more than one cold weather garment, these coats will prove extremely adaptable with every type of garment worn beneath.

The fall suit for '59 will offer many new and different styles.

Coat suits will be featured for the fashion conscious woman. Wool tweeds with fur trim can be worn in town or country and offer warmth as well as classic beauty.

Jackets are markedly longer and a shade more fitted (or, conversely, boxier)—and they are everywhere. Smart new fabrics and colors allow them to be worn with many different dresses and skirts.

Soft knits also will be popular in dresses and suit dresses.

FOR THE casual mood, sepa-

rates continue with even bigger, bolder plaids.

Our local stores have many mix-match separates in new colors with more variety in combination.

The bulky knit sweaters are still on top with the new shaggy or brushed effect sweaters following close behind.

Fall dresses in soft wools and jersey will emphasize the figure. Waistlines are back where they belong! Sheath dresses will be mostly classic in design with emphasis on accessories worn with them. Crepe and print dresses also will be featured.

Despite the over-the-fence shout between houses of fashions in Paris over skirt length, they seem to be a little lower for fall and should hit at about mid-calf.

Good news is in store for the women who dread walking in the pointed toe, slender heeled shoe.

YOU MIGHT catch pneumonia or something in this variant of Nina Ricci's "signature" evening dress of pale blue silk taffeta cut with a lightly interlaced fichu stole. The photo was made in Paris for Pellon.

Merchants Optimistic on Fashions

Cool days are coming and local merchants have their stores full of exciting new fashions to fit every woman's figure and pocketbook!

There is an old saying of the business world that a salesman must be sold on the product himself if he is to successfully present it to the buyers.

If this is true the "59" fall season should prove to be a most pleasing one to ladies of fashion.

As has become the custom, local sales personnel were asked what they thought of this season's fashions.

ALTHOUGH there were variations of what impressed each merchant the most, there was similarity in the overall view for '59'. Here are some comments heard here:

MISS PLUMMER of Goldsmith's: "Fall clothes are colorful, in good taste and just beautiful." Miss Plummer especially likes the new color, raspberry red, used particularly in sweaters.

Normal Heart Murmurs
CHICAGO — In a sound-proofed room, 71 normal adults were given a stethoscopic examination. All had murmurs. But the murmurs couldn't be detected outside the sound-proofed room.

Dr. Dale D. Groom, of the Medical College of South Carolina told the American College of Physicians that the "murmurs" in the "well" persons apparently were normal noises made by blood passing through the heart valves.

ZANE ISENBERG of Grants: "Loden green is the color and Bedford cord is the fabric for women this fall."

AARON LUMPE of Caddy Millers: "Men's styles haven't made any drastic changes for fall, but sweaters with shawl collars and especially the tyrolean-style hats are new."

MRS. RAYMOND BARR of the Val-U Shop: "I think fall fashions are very good and I especially like the two-piece suit."

MISS DOTTY BOGGS of Deb Shop: "Raccoon coats will be good this fall for the younger set as well as adults. Sapphire, jade and amber are new shades in color and I like the new pop-over or 'floating tops' sweaters."

MISS BENADINE YATES of Butch's: "More beads! With larger strands they will be popular this fall. Bright colors such as blue, gunmetal, brown, black, red and green will be favorites."

MRS. GAIL WOLFE of Penney's: "The ensemble look is bigger and better. Dyed-to-match sweaters and skirts, coordinate cropped jackets and skirts are all top want items."

MISS PALM of Sharff's: "I think this fall's fashions are tops." Mrs. Harry Turner: "I especially like the new walking suits, the bold mix-match sports clothes and the tapered slacks."

NAT LEFKO of Rothman's: "Fall styles are more on the conservative trend, not radical of previous years and more down to earth in style and simplicity. Most women and surely men will welcome this trend."

Restoring Dignity to Names

Rehabilitation of historic figures in disrepute is a pursuit that appeals to sentimentalists everywhere. In England much literary effort has been expended to prove that Richard III was not a usurping scoundrel.

In the United States a devoted group labors persistently to remove the stigma of treason from the name of Aaron Burr. Even Benedict Arnold has his apologists, who recently made a vain appeal to the White House in his behalf.

A more worthy object is Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd. A physician, he treated John Wilkes Booth, who injured a leg leaping to the stage at Ford's Theater after he shot Abraham Lincoln. In the hysteria that swept Washington after the tragedy, Dr. Mudd was convicted of complicity in the assassination plot and sent to prison. President Johnson pardoned him in 1869.

Now the House of Representatives has voted to erect a memorial tablet to Dr. Mudd, honoring his "unselfish services" to yellow fever victims in an 1867 epidemic at Ft. Jefferson, Fla., where he was imprisoned.

The House Interior Committee struck from the legislation a declaration of Dr. Mudd's innocence. Most historians agree that he did not know Booth, or even that the President had been shot. But the committee decided this lay outside its competence.

Actor Ponders His 2 Profiles

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Edward Binns has two profiles—and can't decide whether this is a curse or a blessing.

It all came about as the result of a nose broken in his youth.

"If I turn my head one way, I look like an honest cop," he said. "If I turn it the other way, I look like a hood."

"But is this good or bad?" he asked.

It's good to the extent that his double profile has helped keep Eddie one of the busiest actors in the craft. In the last two decades he has appeared in five Broadway plays, 15 movies and some 400 television shows.

It's bad, he feels, in that producers too often cast him in police or hoodlum roles. Gifted with one of the most memorable faces in show business, his problem has been to make his name as well known as his face.

A peaceful man by nature who served as an armament officer in World War II, Eddie is a former instructor at Pennsylvania State University. He is married and has three daughters.

Binns achieved star status this summer playing a detective lieutenant in a new CBS network show.

The program got off to good critical acclaim but has been dropped by the sponsor. Its fate is dependent on whether CBS can find another sponsor and time spot.

"They complain about too much violence on television. In the first 22 shows I haven't shot one man. I did punch one fellow in the stomach, and I kissed a girl. Is that too much violence?"

"But still we were dumped, even though we had good ratings. The reason given was that the public doesn't want a show that faces up to life, and shows life as it is. They say the public only wants to escape life."

Binns shook his head thoughtfully.

"But do sponsors and the agencies know what the public wants?" he asked.

"Someone once praised one of our shows by saying it was 'like real.' That's the best compliment an actor, writer or producer can get. Television needs more shows that are like real."

A Future Built on Sand

When one touches on the subject of religion, he often strikes a sour chord because there are so many religions and sects and each believes that it alone possesses the only and complete truth. However, it is not usually anticipated that atheism or agnosticism will rush to its own defense.

This change in our national mores is recent and startling. For a nation founded by Pilgrims, Puritans, Quakers, Moravians, persecuted Catholics, etc., was not expected to arrive at point when prayer, any kind of prayer, would be offensive, not because it is a different prayer but because it is a prayer.

But such seems to be the case with some folks who write me letters on the subject. For instance, Miss Sandy Perlmutter writes me:

"... There are many reasons for objection. First of all, a memorized prayer is insincere, a mere mumbling of words for the sake of habit. To some, this is a sin. There are others who believe that 'begging' and 'acknowledging our dependence' are beneath the dignity of humans; that God does not exist for the purpose of being implored for blessings. Then too, there is the smallness of 'us, our parents, our teachers, and our country'. Is this not the epitome of selfishness, in a time when the need is for world peace, enlightenment, and life for millions condemned to starve?"

Now to me there is much more in this quotation than meets the eye. For what this young lady is really saying is that the family unit, even the national unit is too small to require allegiance; that the universal, materialistic state is an ideal to be accepted.

In a word, the United States is to bring itself down to the productive and cultural level of the Pacific Islanders or for that matter, the nomads of Kazakhstan, because all should share the goods of the Earth, whether they are productive or not. It is a doctrine of primitive socialism, long abandoned in every socialist country, including Soviet Russia, but often taught to our children as the pabulum of humanism.

Then the young lady, having expounded her philosophy, not of non-conformism but of what in the days of Emma Goldman and the Ferrer school used to be called anarchism, proceeds with this paragraph:

"Granted, if a group is homogeneous, it is comforting to be saying the same thing as the rest, not to be able to hear one's own voice at all, but the powerful voice of the mass. But there is not a great difference between 'Almighty God' and 'Heil Hitler' chanted in unison, when one does not know the meaning of words, or prefers not to know, caught in the joyous drunken web of mob action."

This is apparently a well-educated young lady whose two-page letter is well-written, whose anger seems to be legitimate. But what does she believe to be true? What is the standard of life that guides her?

Her letter carries this discussion beyond the subject of prayer to the broad field of education. What are our children getting out of the schools beyond a few tools to use for a livelihood? What are they getting of manners and morals, of inspiration and incentive? Is the school, which consumes the major portion of the waking hours of a child's life, nothing more than bricks and glass with a pedagogue to drone along for months about something that a smart child can pick up in weeks? What are we doing to our children? Are we educating them or only teaching them?

There is excitement about juvenile delinquency by which is meant that some young people engage in major felonies, including murder. Compared to the total juvenile population, the delinquents are relatively few and their maladjustments are often pre-natal and due to physical as well as mental ailments. Such matters are principally for the police or for psychiatrists. When the sociologist enters this field, he usually creates increased confusion because he generally insists upon an environmental interpretation of good and evil.

But our major problem with youth has nothing to do with delinquency. It has to do with faulty education which leaves the young person without faith or hope. Here indeed is the peril of our nation and our times because we build the future on sand if the future is without faith or hope.

Try and Stop Me
By BENNETT CERF

MIAMI SEAQUARIUM attendants have become used to some oddball questions. One tourist wanted to know if the sea cows could be milked; another actually asked if jelly fish come in assorted flavors.

For a publicity "gag" picture, the Seaquarium and the Florida Citrus commission "planted" an orange tree—complete with tied-on fruit—smack in the middle of the Seaquarium's main tank. Within one hour, five visitors demanded to know the secret for growing oranges under water!

Young Cyril was boasting about his newly-acquired canine.

"What kind of a dog is it, Cyril?" asked the teacher indulgently.

"Sort of a mixed-up kind," admitted Cyril. "Pop calls him a cocker scandal."

Visual Perception Influences
By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You can't believe everything you see.

Our minds sometimes play funny tricks and overrule what our eyes tell us is true.

Visual perception, you see, is a very complicated process. It involves our past experiences and expectations of the future as well as the objects presently before us.

The Better Vision Institute recently reported on some experiments which indicate that our emotional response to a certain person may modify, or change, the image we actually see of that person.

One series of experiments was conducted in a distorted room. The floor slopes upward to the right, the rear wall recedes from the right to the left, and trapezoidal windows of different sizes are set in the rear wall.

When viewed from a certain position, this room appears to be a perfectly ordinary symmetrical room. And when a person walks across it, generally he appears to be getting larger or smaller, depending upon the direction in which he walks.

Actually, of course, the person does not change in size. But most viewers are so influenced by past experiences with perspective that they accept distortion in the appearance of another person rather than in the shape of the room.

They know that as a person walks away from them, he will appear to become smaller. Conversely, as a person approaches them, he will appear to become larger.

On the other hand, past experience tells them that a room has a horizontal floor and ceiling and that its walls are vertical and at right angles to the ceiling and floor.

So they accept what they believe instead of what they actually see.

Now, there are exceptions, of course.

Several newlyweds viewed their partners walking across the room with a total stranger.

These recently married persons believed that their mates did not change at all in stature or that they changed less than the stranger did.

Scientists explain this reaction only by saying that it must be related to marriage and to the newlyweds' relationship with their partners.

Starlings Give Would-Be Foe The Big Bird

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Starling chaser Otto Standke has left town, the starlings apparently unchased, and Standke not much richer.

The 71-year-old Kansan, highly recommended by various Midwest cities, came to Mount Vernon Aug. 20 with a contract to chase away the raucous birds which were sullying the town.

He made his nighttime rounds banging metal paddles together and strumming a lyre-like instrument hung around his neck.

He claimed that the real secret of his ability to chase starlings was kept in a locked box. Though many saw the box, no one saw him open it.

Standke was to get $1,000 if he chased the starlings away if they stayed away for a month, and $4,000 if they were still absent after a year.

When Standke departed Monday, officials said the starlings were as thick as ever. Standke claimed they were some other kind of bird.

The city paid him $245 in expenses.

PROTECTING YOUR TELEPHONE PRIVACY

Nobody wants his telephone privacy violated.

To insure your privacy, the Ohio Legislature enacted a law sponsored by the Ohio Independent Telephone Association, making it illegal to use the telephone for the purpose of annoying, harassing or molesting another either through the use of indecent language or with malicious threat. Violators are subject to fines of up to $500.00 or jail sentences not to exceed six months or both.

If you should be bothered by crank calls, this new law will give authorities the means to prosecute the offender. And to restrain potential offenders, Ohio Telephone companies are printing a warning in their directories regarding penalties for violation of the law.

But such seems to be the case with some folks who write me letters on the subject. For instance, Miss Sandy Perlmuter writes me:

"...There are many reasons for objection. First of all, a memorized prayer is insincere, a mere mumbling of words for the sake of habit. To some, this is a sin. There are others who believe that 'begging' and 'acknowledging our dependence' are beneath the dignity of humans; that God does not exist for the purpose of being implored for blessings. Then too, there is the smallness of 'us, our parents, our teachers, and our country'. Is this not the epitome of selfishness, in a time when the need is for world peace, enlightenment, and life for millions condemned to starve?"

Now to me there is much more in this quotation than meets the eye. For what this young lady is really saying is that the family unit, even the national unit is too small to require allegiance; that the universal, materialistic state is an ideal to be accepted.

In a word, the United States is to bring itself down to the productive and cultural level of the Pacific Islanders or for that matter, the nomads of Kazakhstan, because all should share the goods of the Earth, whether they are productive or not. It is a doctrine of primitive socialism, long abandoned in every socialist country, including Soviet Russia, but often taught to our children as the pabulum of humanism.

Then the young lady, having expounded her philosophy, not of non-conformism but of what in the days of Emma Goldman and the Ferrer school used to be called anarchism, proceeds with this paragraph: "Granted, if a group is homogeneous, it is comforting to be saying the same thing as the rest, not to be able to hear one's own voice at all, but the powerful voice of the mass. But there is not a great difference between 'Almighty God' and 'Heil Hitler' chanted in unison, when one does not know the meaning of words, or prefers not to know, caught in the joyous drunken web of mob action."

This is apparently a well-educated young lady whose two-page letter is well-written, whose anger seems to be legitimate. But what does she believe to be true? What is the standard of life that guides her?

Her letter carries this discussion beyond the subject of prayer to the broad field of education. What are our children getting out of the schools beyond a few tools to use for a livelihood? What are they getting of manners and morals, of inspiration and incentive? Is the school, which consumes the major portion of the waking hours of a child's life, nothing more than bricks and glass with a pedagogue to drone along for months about something that a smart child can pick up in weeks? What are we doing to our children? Are we educating them or only teaching them? There is excitement about juvenile delinquency by which is meant that some young people engage in major felonies, including murder. Compared to the total juvenile population, the delinquents are relatively few and their maladjustments are often pre-natal and due to physical as well as mental ailments. Such matters are principally for the police or for psychiatrists. When the sociologist enters this field, he usually creates increased confusion because he generally insists upon an environmental interpretation of good and evil.

But our major problem with youth has nothing to do with delinquency. It has to do with faulty education which leaves the young person without faith or hope. Here indeed is the peril of our nation and our times because we build the future on sand if the future is without faith or hope.

TWINS, HEART DEFECTS—Mrs. Eugene Heller holds her twin sons Brian (left) and Brent, who both have heart defects and are scheduled for operations in October in Cleveland. By coincidence, the nationally famous heart surgeon who will perform the operations is Dr. Earle B. Kay, the first surgeon Mrs. Heller assisted in an operation when she started as a nurse 10 years ago.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MIAMI SEAQUARIUM attendants have become used to some oddball questions. One tourist wanted to know if the sea cows could be milked; another actually asked if jelly fish come in assorted flavors.

For a publicity "gag" picture, the Seaquarium and the Florida Citrus commission "planted" an orange tree—complete with tied-on fruit—smack in the middle of the Seaquarium's main tank. Within one hour, five visitors demanded to know the secret for growing oranges under water!

Young Cyril was boasting about his newly-acquired canine.

"What kind of a dog is it, Cyril?" asked the teacher indulgently.

"Sort of a mixed-up kind," admitted Cyril. "Pop calls him a cocker scandal."

Visual Perception Influences

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
You can't believe everything you see.

Our minds sometimes play funny tricks and overrule what our eyes tell us is true.

Visual perception, you see, is a very complicated process. It involves our past experiences and expectations of the future as well as the objects presently before us.

The Better Vision Institute recently reported on some experiments which indicate that our emotional response to a certain person may modify, or change, the image we actually see of that person.

One series of experiments was conducted in a distorted room. The floor slopes upward to the right, the rear wall recedes from the right to the left, and trapezoidal windows of different sizes are set in the rear wall.

When viewed from a certain position, this room appears to be a perfectly ordinary symmetrical room. And when a person walks across it, generally he appears to be getting larger or smaller, depending upon the direction in which he walks.

Actually, of course, the person does not change in size. But most viewers are so influenced by past experiences with perspective that they accept distortion in the appearance of another person rather than in the shape of the room.

They know that as a person walks away from them, he will appear to become smaller. Conversely, as a person approaches them, he will appear to become larger.

On the other hand, past experience tells them that a room has a horizontal floor and ceiling and that its walls are vertical and at right angles to the ceiling and floor.

So they accept what they believe instead of what they actually see. Now, there are exceptions, of course.

Several newlyweds viewed their partners walking across the room with a total stranger.

These recently married persons believed that their mates did not change at all in stature or that they changed less than the stranger did.

Scientists explain this reaction only by saying that it must be related to marriage and to the newlyweds' relationship with their partners.

Question and Answer
V. S.: What causes endometriosis and what is the cure?

Answer: Endometriosis is due to the presence of tissue resembling the tissue of the womb lining in abnormal locations. These areas may be removed if accessible or may be treated by various hormones.

Starlings Give Would-Be Foe The Big Bird

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Starling chaser Otto Standke has left town, the starlings apparently unchased, and Standke not much richer.

The 71-year-old Kansan, highly recommended by various Midwest cities, came to Mount Vernon Aug. 20 with a contract to chase away the raucous birds which were sullying the town.

He made his nighttime rounds banging metal paddles together and strumming a lyre-like instrument hung around his neck.

He claimed that the real secret of his ability to chase starlings was kept in a locked box. Though many saw the box, no one saw him open it.

Standke was to get $1,000 if he chased the starlings away if they stayed away for a month, and $4,000 if they were still absent after a year.

When Standke departed Monday, officials said the starlings were as thick as ever. Standke claimed they were some other kind of bird.

The city paid him $245 in expenses.

PROTECTING YOUR TELEPHONE PRIVACY

Nobody wants his telephone privacy violated. To insure your privacy, the Ohio Legislature enacted a law sponsored by the Ohio Independent Telephone Association, making it illegal to use the telephone for the purpose of annoying, harassing or molesting another either through the use of indecent language or with malicious threat. Violators are subject to fines of up to $500.00 or jail sentences not to exceed six months or both.

If you should be bothered by crank calls, this new law will give authorities the means to prosecute the offender. And to restrain potential offenders, Ohio Telephone companies are printing a warning in their directories regarding penalties for violation of the law.

Your telephone privacy will always be a concern of Ohio's progressive independent telephone industry.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Your Husband Is Confused

DEAR ABBY: I have been married almost twenty years to a man who was married before. His first wife died about 30 years ago. Next month my husband would have been married to his first wife fifty years if she had lived. But she didn't live, you understand. She died.

My husband wants US to celebrate his 50th wedding anniversary. I told him it was not proper as we have been married to each other for only 20 years. He said that 50 years of married life was 50 years of married life and it didn't matter who he started out with. He was finishing up with me. How can I stop him from making a fool of himself? We've been quarreling about this all month.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: YOU are not "confused"...your HUSBAND is "confused." A wedding anniversary marks the number of years people have been married to EACH OTHER. If you can't convince your husband of this fact, perhaps your clergyman can. Celebrate your 20th. The anniversary may not be golden—but your silence will be.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I are both 15. Lots of people think we are too young to talk about sex. Others think it isn't proper for a boy and girl to discuss sex at all. But, Abby, we feel it is a big problem for lots of teenagers and it should be discussed together. Please give us your opinion. Are we right or wrong?

R. or W.
DEAR R. or W.: A discussion of "sex" can be wholesome, illuminating and constructive only when an "authority" contributes to it. Two 15-year-olds cannot learn much in a discussion of this kind. When questions arise ask an experienced adult (perhaps a parent or teacher) to guide the discussion and answer questions. Then you'll be sure the information is correct. There is nothing wrong with teenagers discussing sex in the presence of an enlightened adult.

DEAR ABBY: I am a respectable woman, 26, who had the misfortune of marrying the wrong man when I was 19. My marriage lasted only one year but it seems that I must carry the stigma of this "disgrace" forever.

I've been going with a young man for the past two years. He has put off introducing me to his family until finally he ran out of excuses. He finally admitted that his mother wouldn't like me because she is against divorce.

I love this man, Abby, and I know he loves me. But I want to get married. What is a divorcee supposed to do? Kill herself?

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Plum, Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Douglas Cotterman, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh and Mrs. R. L. Ballentine.

The next meeting will be held October 12 in the home of Mrs. Dwight Steele, 416 S. Court St.

of this man's family? If so, you are fighting a losing battle and you would be wise to give him up. If this is not the reason, your friend is simply not adult enough to face his mother with the facts, in which case you are lucky to know it now.

Do you have a problem? Write to Abby, in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Soft Tweeds and Knits Are Smart Travelers Favorites

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The seasoned traveler is at ease in her clothes, at home or abroad, says confirmed globe-trotter Vera Maxwell, who has been designing easy travel clothes for a couple of decades.

Soft tweeds and knits are her prescription for women who know their way around the world—clothes that are at home in any capital or crossroads, clothes that shed wrinkles and are easy to wear.

This fall Miss Maxwell likes subdued heather-toned tweeds, which she gathers up from mills in Scotland and Ireland on her periodic trips abroad. Often she combines them with knit trim and accessories. Occasionally she introduces a soft, rich color, such as her "Plum Pretty" suit in plum-colored tweed with striped knit and sweater-blouse. She also uses moss green homespun in a smooth little suit teamed with a blouse of orlon and wool in a coordinated print.

For a complete travel outfit she shows a "wonder wardrobe," consisting of a color coordinated coat, dress and jacket, designed to be worn separately or together, permitting numerous combinations with other clothes.

New and striking is her thigh-length tweed jacket in subdued stripes, designed for wear with either slacks or a skirt. Great either for walking the dog or driving a sports car, says Vera.

For adding a bit of dash to a simple suit, this designer likes the "watch chain look" — multiple gold chains and fobs worn on a suit pocket or at the belt.

Kent State Aide Dies

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Will S. Thompson, 54, head of the chemistry department of Kent State University, died Tuesday in Atlantic City, N. J. He was in the resort city to attend a convention of the American Chemical Society.

Loan Official To Quit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Don L. Tobin, 71, will retire Oct. 1 after 20 years as executive secretary of the Ohio Savings & Loan League. Tobin, with the league 38 years, will still be subject to call as a consultant, it was announced Tuesday.

Westfall Is Broke Without New Tax

If the 3.6-mill levy for current operating expenses in 1960 passes at the November election, the Westfall Board of Education expects to break even next year.

The budget, filed August 31 with the Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoades, calls for receipts to equal expenditures in the amount of $502,059.

The year 1960 will start with an estimated deficit balance of $17,626.25. Increased general property taxes of $81,558.45 from the 3.6-mill levy, to appear on the November 3 off-year general election ballot, will provide the additional funds needed to balance out the year.

A reduction of $18,619.37 is expected in the school foundation program, the second year in a row that the state has reduced financial aid. The loss is approximately $48,000.

OTHER RECEIPTS are expected to be practically the same. They are, with 1959 estimated amounts in parenthesis:

General property tax, $386,612.88 ($305,054.43); State Foundation fund, $128,000 ($146,619.37); classified property tax, $1,250 ($1,250); irreducible debt, $137.37 ($137.37); private tuition and vocational agricultural, $285 ($394); Miscellaneous, $1,400 ($1,350); and book sales, $2,000 ($2,000), for a total of $502,059.

Major increase in expenditures is in teachers' salaries with an estimated figure of $327,420 or $10,420 more than in 1959.

Teachers' salaries alone come within $59,192.88 of equaling the real estate tax income of the district, showing the necessity of additional school funds from some source.

Expenditures remaining the same as last year are: administration salaries, $21,230; instruction expenses, $15,500; school library expenses, $1,500; transportation of pupils, replacements and repairs, $2,800;

SCHOOL BUS expenses, $10,600; other auxiliary agency personal services, $375; school plant employees' salaries, $20,200; maintenance of school plant expenses, $9,800, and tuition, $475.

Changes from last year's estimated budget are: $1,000 earmarked for administration permanent improvements where no item appeared last year;

No money estimated for administration expenses (it was $1,000 in 1959); teachers' salaries up from $317,000 to $327,420; school bus drivers' salaries up from $19,000 to $20,700;

Operation of school plants up from $24,000 to $27,000; contribution to teachers' retirement system up from $29,188 to $29,780; a reduction in the contribution to the school employees' retirement system from $5,380 down to $4,879;

Increase in amount deducted for the County Board of Education from $6,091 to $7,000; increase of $50 in the County Auditor's and Treasurer's fees to $1,800, and no item for bus purchases which last year was $4,000.

Estimated cafeteria fund receipts totals $51,855.57 while expenditures may be $51,900 for a loss of $44.43.

THE FARM FUND is expected to show a balance of $908.23 from receipts of $3,406.23 and expenses of $2,500.

The bond retirement fund is estimated to show a $1,055.14 balance from receipts of $16,390.14 and expenditures of $15,335.

Soviets Ask Parley over Laos Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union says the only way to deal with the trouble in Laos is through an international conference, with Red China taking part.

The Soviets in an official statement issued by Tass news agency, again repudiated the U. N. fact-finding mission sent to investigate the tiny Asian kingdom's charges of aggression against the Communists.

The Soviet statement warned the West that the Security Council's action might have "far-reaching consequences for peace and security in Indochina."

The statement was timed with the arrival of the U. N. mission in Southeast Asia and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's takeoff for talks with President Eisenhower in Washington.

The Soviets demanded a conference to be "called without delay" by the countries that attended the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French-Communist fighting in Indochina and brought independence to Laos. They were the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Red China, and the Indochinese states of South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Communist North Viet Nam.

The first U. S. reaction to the Soviet proposal was cool. A source close to the situation said:

"Apparently the Soviet leaders are not willing to let the U. N. fact-finders have a chance to make their report."

Westfall Is Broke Without New Tax

If the 3.6-mill levy for current operating expenses in 1960 passes at the November election, the Westfall Board of Education expects to break even next year.

The budget, filed August 31 with the Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvyn H. Rhoades, calls for receipts to equal expenditures in the amount of $502,059.

The year 1960 will start with an

Soft Tweeds and Knits Are Smart Travelers Favorites

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The seasoned traveler is at ease in her clothes, at home or abroad, says confirmed globe-trotter Vera Maxwell, who has been designing easy travel clothes for a couple of decades.

Soft tweeds and knits are her prescription for women who know their way around the world—clothes that are at home in any capital or crossroads, clothes that shed wrinkles and are easy to wear.

This fall Miss Maxwell likes subdued heather - toned tweeds, which she gathers up from mills in Scotland and Ireland on her periodic trips abroad. Often she combines them with knit trim and accessories. Occasionally she introduces a soft, rich color, such as her "Plum Pretty" suit in plum-colored tweed with striped knit and sweater-blouse. She also uses moss green homespun in a smooth little suit teamed with a blouse of orlon and wool in a coordinated print.

For a complete travel outfit she shows a "wonder wardrobe," consisting of a color coordinated coat, dress and jacket, designed to be worn separately or together, permitting numerous combinations with other clothes.

New and striking is her thigh-length tweed jacket in subdued stripes, designed for wear with either slacks or a skirt. Great either for walking the dog or driving a sports car, says Vera.

For adding a bit of dash to a simple suit, this designer likes the "watch chain look" — multiple gold chains and fobs worn on a suit pocket or at the belt.

A WORLD OF flattering fashion news is embodied in this beautiful, draped black crepe dress with a set-in yoke.

A LIGHTWEIGHT checked wool suit comes in shades of blue, moss green, brown.

SATIN ROSES on chiffon are floated over emerald taffeta for an afternoon dress.

Flattering Fashions Aid the Figure

By SUSAN BARDEN
These figure-flattering fashions will be a real delight to anyone who has a figure problem. Styled to slim, the strategically designed costumes are young, vivacious and sophisticated, even when cleverly covering the top of the arm, slendering the waist, or elongating a neckline.

A smart fall wardrobe can be built around these elegant clothes made in beautiful materials that key them to appropriate occasions.

The fabrics shown include a sheer wool, a finely-textured crepe and a new import from France which is a chiffon processed with satin motifs.

Black crepe is used for an exciting afternoon dress which has a fluid skirt silhouette and a bodice detailed with set-in grosgrain yoke accentuated with glitter.

The suit is subtly tailored with a cutaway type jacket and a slim, molded skirt. A tissue faille blouse matches the lining of the coat.

For afternoon into evening there is a full-skirted frock with a fitted bodice and a low, rounded neckline. It features the French embossed satin chiffon over taffeta.

'Knothead' Colonel Tells Of His Boner

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — "It was a perfect hit. In my 17 years of flying, I've never seen a better hit."

Thus did Lt. Col. Montie A. Davis describe his air-to-air missile shot Monday that knocked a jet fighter out of the sky at 38,000 feet. The pilot parachuted to safety.

"It happened because I'm the world's biggest knothead," Davis told newsmen at Selfridge Air Force Base where he is commanding officer of the 71st Interceptor Squadron.

Davis, 37, said he didn't know his jet was loaded with deadly missiles and rockets as he flew on a training mission over southern Michigan with Lt. Albert L. Pruden, 25, of Mount Clemens, Mich. Both were flying F102 supersonic Delta Daggers.

Davis aimed at Pruden's target plane and pressed the trigger in make-believe firing. An air-to-air missile struck the plane.

Pruden's plane—a wing shot off—went into a spin and crashed in flames in a farmyard 15 miles northeast of Jackson. A family of three ran from the path of the falling craft.

Pruden bailed out and drifted in his parachute for 45 minutes before landing in a cornfield. He suffered mild shock, a cut foot and bruised leg.

Mix-Match Separates Are Back-to-School Favorites

By SUSAN BARDEN
Back-to-school girls will be the envy of the classroom in mix-match separates that are young and versatile. Shown here as complete outfits, they are equally attractive when worn individually.
A figure-flattering, well-tailored double-breasted vest is coordinated with a flared skirt which features make-believe flap pockets and a deep inside front pleat. A permanently pleated plaid skirt, in black, brown and red, has a weskit tailored to button inside and out, giving a definite waistline. Another ensemble has a braid-trimmed, single-breasted top with flap pockets and a pleated skirt that falls in straight lines.

NOVELTY FLANNEL is used for this semi-flared skirt. It's worn with a double-breasted vest and a white shirt.

THIS PERKY OUTFIT is in plaid wool. The skirt is pleated below the hips and is topped by a matching weskit.

ANOTHER plaid twosome: skirt and cardigan jerkin.

Iowa Farmers Get Bob Garst Preview

COON RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Several thousand farmers from a five-state area are getting a preview this week of what Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will see and hear in Coon Rapids Sept. 23.

These farmers are attending an annual week-long open house sponsored by a seed corn company of which 61-year-old Roswell (Bob) Garst is half owner.

Garst will be Khrushchev's host here next week.

Some 400 farm people from Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado turned out for the tour of the Garst operations Monday.

Army Works for Campers

FT. LEE, Va. (AP)—When the Army goes camping it is no picnic. But the things it carries are a joy to civilian campers. Among new devices being tested at the Quartermaster School here are a one-pound stove for quick cooking of dehydrated foods, a slim metal cylinder to heat a five-gallon can of water on the principle of a low-down incendiary bomb and a lantern with a doughnut-shaped fuel tank above the light so as to deflect light.

Northwestern Ohio Educators Booked For Sept. 26 Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Performance of both pupil and teacher will be under discussion Sept. 26 at a Northwest Ohio Education Conference set up by the Ohio Education Department. It will be held at Heidelberg College in Tiffin.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, said one goal is "a better concept of desirable skills and competencies of high school students."

And he said there may be "implications for changes in teacher training programs."

More than 500 school superintendents, supervisors and guidance counselors, and representatives of teacher training institutions, are expected to attend. Counties included are Allen, Van Wert, Richland, Lucas, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Henry, Wood, Seneca, Hancock, Paulding, Putnam, Huron, Erie, Sandusky, Ottawa, Defiance, Fulton and Williams.

Interest Conflict Law Said Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because of the Franklin County grand jury's report on lobbyist-legislator activities, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle sees a new indication that a conflict of interest law is needed in Ohio.

Robert E. Scott of Cambridge, a lobbyist for coal mining interests, was indicted by the grand jury on two counts of failure to report money he allegedly spent on behalf of legislators.

DiSalle said that, although an indictment is not necessarily a finding of guilty, if it develops there are large loopholes in lobbying laws, it will be necessary to have a "more detailed spelling out of what should be illegal. To my mind, those things which are unethical for public officials should also be illegal."

Sensible Walking Shoes Are Back in Style for Fall

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
The perils of being fashionable will be considerably reduced this fall, as comfortable, sensible walking shoes come back in style. Now you'll be able to buy street shoes with stacked leather heels and oval toes, and for the first time in several seasons be able to walk over a sidewalk grating without risking a broken ankle.

The extreme pointed toes and needle heels that have revolutionized American women's walking habits in the last few years will still be available, but principally for cocktail and evening wear.

New fall shoes have greater variety of styling, leathers and colors this year than in many years. Tailored simplicity is the ticket for daytime, with the unadorned pump the top favorite and the stacked leather heel a popular choice. The new heels come in all heights from half-inch flats to three-inch conical heels set on a steel spike. There are new in-curving Cuban heels, elongated ovals, Louis heels with squared or rounded shapes and many with squared-off lines. The thing that will please most of the general public is the fact that the new stacked heels are wide enough not to get stuck in escalators and the cracks in the sidewalk.

Boots also take the spotlight this fall for the extras in shoe wardrobes. These come in all versions, from sturdy sports boots for football games to elegant pastel suede boots with jeweled heels for wear on stormy evenings when you go to the theater.

Evening shoes are shown in many leathers, often jewel trimmed, with stiletto heels and needle toes, and in colors to match any costume.

In the fall shoe lineup the newest colors are all the brown tones — nut, copper, bronze, beige and bone — with deep wine reds, avocado and woodland greens, indigo and deep blues, muted purples and soft grays vying with the ever-present blacks.

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP) — The police of the 53 municipalities of Monmouth County have decided to work together with as little red tape as possible.

They have organized a county-wide police radio network so that police in one town know what is going on in every other town in the county.

Toledo Port Ore, Coal Shipments Dip

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Iron ore receipts and coal shipments in the Port of Toledo dipped last month because of the steel strike, but the season's figures still were ahead of a year ago.
Comparisons of the 1958 and 1959 Great Lakes shipping seasons through August were reported today by Joe C. Laspisa, area engineer of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.
Iron ore receipts this year were 2,933,203 tons, up from 1,735,583 tons a year ago. Coal shipments totaled 15,644,117 tons, compared with 13,038,738 tons last year. Grain shipments were 245,242 tons, against 95,544 tons a year ago.

Mix-Match Separates Are Back-to-School Favorites

By SUSAN BARDEN
Back-to-school girls will be the envy of the classroom in mix-match separates that are young and versatile. Shown here as complete outfits, they are equally attractive when worn individually.
A figure-flattering, well-tailored double-breasted vest is coordinated with a flared skirt which features make-believe flap pockets and a deep inside front pleat.
A permanently pleated plaid skirt, in black, brown and red, has a weskit tailored to button inside and out, giving a definite waistline. Another ensemble has a braid-trimmed, single-breasted top with flap pockets and a pleated skirt that falls in straight lines.

NOVELTY FLANNEL is used for this semi-flared skirt. It's worn with a double-breasted vest and a white shirt.

THIS PERKY OUTFIT is in plaid wool. The skirt is pleated below the hips and is topped by a matching weskit.

ANOTHER plaid twosome: skirt and cardigan jerkin.

Iowa Farmers Get Bob Garst Preview

COON RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Several thousand farmers from a five-state area are getting a preview this week of what Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will see and hear in Coon Rapids Sept. 23.
These farmers are attending an annual week-long open house sponsored by a seed corn company of which 61-year-old Roswell (Bob) Garst is half owner.
Garst will be Khrushchev's host here next week.
Some 400 farm people from Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado turned out for the tour of the Garst operations Monday.

Army Works for Campers

FT. LEE, Va. (AP)—When the Army goes camping it is no picnic. But the things it carries are a joy to civilian campers. Among new devices being tested at the Quartermaster School here are a one-pound stove for quick cooking of dehydrated foods, a slim metal cylinder to heat a five-gallon can of water on the principle of a lowed-down incendiary bomb and a lantern with a doughnut-shaped fuel tank above the light so as to deflect light.

Northwestern Ohio Educators Booked For 'Sept. 26 Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Performance of both pupil and teacher will be under discussion Sept. 26 at a Northwest Ohio Education Conference set up by the Ohio Education Department. It will be held at Heidelberg College in Tiffin.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, said one goal is "a better concept of desirable skills and competencies of high school students."

And he said there may be "implications for changes in teacher training programs."

More than 500 school superintendents, supervisors and guidance counselors, and representatives of teacher training institutions, are expected to attend. Counties included are Allen, Van Wert, Richland, Lucas, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Henry, Wood, Seneca, Hancock, Paulding, Putnam, Huron, Erie, Sandusky, Ottawa, Defiance, Fulton and Williams.

Interest Conflict Law Said Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because of the Franklin County grand jury's report on lobbyist-legislator activities, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle sees a new indication that a conflict of interest law is needed in Ohio.

Robert E. Scott of Cambridge, a lobbyist for coal mining interests, was indicted by the grand jury on two counts of failure to report money he allegedly spent on behalf of legislators.

DiSalle said that, although an indictment is not necessarily a finding of guilty, if it develops there are large loopholes in lobbying laws, it will be necessary to have a "more detailed spelling out of what should be illegal. To my mind, those things which are unethical for public officials should also be illegal."

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations — making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. 'Man Appeal' Plentiful In Those Fall Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
Assoc. Press Women's Editor

Husbands will be so happy about feminine fashions this fall that they may not even fuss about the prices.

New York designers have turned out fall collections calculated to make women look their best and to make men applaud. The clothes ready for next season are the kind that men like best — simple in cut, luxurious in fabric and made with the feminine figure in mind.

Necklines are at their most flattering — wide and oval in daytime, daringly plunging at night. Belts are where they belong — in the middle. Skirts are slender and just short enough for flattery.

Everything has a tailored look, whether it's a suit of men's wear, a dress or an evening gown of flitting gold brocade. And this is a gesture toward the men, too. For the U. S. male always has admired the feminine woman in clothes with a mannish look—witness the popularity of Marlene Dietrich and her ermine polo coat, Greta Garbo and her slouch hat.

THERE HASN'T been an evening fashion in years that will draw more cheers from the boys than the gold brocade trench coat and matching shirtwaist dress of this season. It's planned to give women the appealing look achieved by a girl in boys' pajamas.

GAY, THOSE 90'S—Rosita Vera Cruz wears an ostrich plume and lace costume to represent European music hall scenery of the gay nineties era for a can-can number in a film being made in Rome. Achille Lauro, who made a pile in shipping and once was Naples mayor, is trying his hand at making motion pictures.

Just as popular will be the long, slinky, backless evening gowns of beaded chiffon theater suits with tailored jackets concealing plunging necklines.

The man-tailored suit and the dress-and-jacket costume are the favorite outfits for daytime wear. Both may be loaded with a fortune in furs, either in collar or lining.

Suit jackets are longer, sometimes reaching a few inches above the hemline, often belted, always slender in silhouette. Jackets are cut on the lines of a man's business suit or smoking jacket, easy to fit, understated in silhouette, with trim shoulders and a confident air. Skirts are slim, often tapered toward the hemline.

COATS for fall and winter are more mannish in cut than in many years, either loose or belted, often with lavish fur collars.

The use of fur trimmings is the biggest news of the new collections. Most dramatic are the long-haired furs such as fox and lynx, used in great collars or suits or borders on coats. Often these are teamed with matching hats.

Mink is present in all mutations, used as lining or trimming for jackets and coats, but there are many other furs present in the fall fashion parade. Leopard is a favorite, and there are newcomers such as hamster, used with telling effect.

THERE IS much talk of the "Chanel look", the "little-boy look" and the "Madison Avenue look" — all used to describe the casual, tailored air of the new clothes, and the nonchalance accorded to precious materials.

This is a season when you could wear mink overalls if you chose, and be right in the spirit of the times.

It's a season when you can make the most of being a woman, without being obvious about it.

It's a season when you can go shopping with a free mind, secure in the knowledge that your husband or favorite beau is going to love your new clothes.

Ohio Polio Case Total Last Week Records Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Health Department's polio case file for last week is only about half as thick as the one for the week before. Officials said 15 cases were reported in the state, compared with a record (for this year) of 27 the first week in September.

But the department cautioned against over-optimism, pointing out again that high totals were still being reported in mid-October 1958. For one thing, officials said, there is a time lapse of a week to 10 days in the reporting process.

The total for the year—including a change in diagnosis from polio in one recent case—is 162. Last year at this time the total was 137, but the case load for the comparable week was 38.

There was no immediate breakdown of areas from which the 15 latest cases were reported.

The average speed of freight trains in the United States is 19 miles an hour. This includes stops for switching, unloading, etc.

She Appreciates America After Visiting in Russia

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

"I never really appreciated America until I went to Russia," says Barbara Higbee, of New York, just back from a seven-week stint at the American Exhibit in Moscow.

"Just the day before I left I had time to stop in and see the Circa-rama in our exhibit—you know, that wonderful full-circle movie showing typical American scenes—and all of a sudden I felt I couldn't wait to get back home."

Barbara demonstrated sewing machines in the home - sewing booth at the fair, and she says the Russians were fascinated by both the machines and American fashions.

"Even when the booth was empty, they were crowded 10 deep around it," she said, "just looking. Most Russian women make their own clothes, but they do not have the variety of either patterns or fabrics we have here. Fabrics are very expensive—an average of $6 a yard for rayons."

Barbara and the other girls in her group lived at the Ukraina Hotel, one of Moscow's newest and most modern, corresponding somewhat to New York's Waldorf.

"From the outside it looked like a palace," Barbara said. "But inside it ran pretty much to red plush and early Grand Rapids type furniture. The bathrooms were about 1910 models, by American standards."

"Getting food in the dining room was a real adventure. The first week I nearly starved because I hadn't got onto the system. Then we discovered that you had to shop around for a waiter before you sat down and make a deal with him to serve you. Free tickets to the exhibit helped a lot. But still you had to figure it would take about three hours to get dinner. And if you were lucky you could get lunch in an hour and a half."

Smart Burglar

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A pound of raw hamburger aided a house burglar in escaping with $300 in jewelry.

He fed the meat to the family dog to keep him from barking. The hamburger was stolen from the family refrigerator.

In New Role

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — John F. Wacker is back at his old stamping ground but in a slightly different role. Wacker was a yeoman in 1942 when assigned to the Fifth Coast Guard District office here. After 17 years he is back as the boss with a commander's stripes on his sleeve.

THERE IS much talk of the "Chanel look", the "little-boy look" and the "Madison Avenue look"—all used to describe the casual, tailored air of the new clothes, and the nonchalance accorded to precious materials.

This is a season when you could wear mink overalls if you chose, and be right in the spirit of the times.

It's a season when you can make the most of being a woman, without being obvious about it.

It's a season when you can go shopping with a free mind, secure in the knowledge that your husband or favorite beau is going to love your new clothes.

Ohio Polio Case Total Last Week Records Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Health Department's polio case file for last week is only about half as thick as the one for the week before. Officials said 15 cases were reported in the state, compared with a record (for this year, 27 the first week in September.

But the department cautioned against over-optimism, pointing out again that high totals were still being reported in mid-October 1958. For one thing, officials said, there is a time lapse of a week to 10 days in the reporting process.

The total for the year—including a change in diagnosis from polio in one recent case—is 162. Last year at this time the total was 137, but the case load for the comparable week was 38.

There was no immediate breakdown of areas from which the 15 latest cases were reported.

The average speed of freight trains in the United States is 19 miles an hour. This includes stops for switching, unloading, etc.

She Appreciates America After Visiting in Russia

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

"I never really appreciated America until I went to Russia," says Barbara Higbee, of New York, just back from a seven-week stint at the American Exhibit in Moscow.

"Just the day before I left I had time to stop in and see the Circarama in our exhibit—you know, that wonderful full-circle movie showing typical American scenes—and all of a sudden I felt I couldn't wait to get back home."

Barbara demonstrated sewing machines in the home-sewing booth at the fair, and she says the Russians were fascinated by both the machines and American fashions.

"Even when the booth was empty, they were crowded 10 deep around it," she said, "just looking. Most Russian women make their own clothes, but they do not have the variety of either patterns or fabrics we have here. Fabrics are very expensive—an average of $6 a yard for rayons."

Barbara and the other girls in her group lived at the Ukraina Hotel, one of Moscow's newest and most modern, corresponding somewhat to New York's Waldorf.

"From the outside it looked like a palace," Barbara said. "But inside it ran pretty much to red plush and early Grand Rapids type furniture. The bathrooms were about 1910 models, by American standards."

"Getting food in the dining room was a real adventure. The first week I nearly starved because I hadn't got onto the system. Then we discovered that you had to shop around for a waiter before you sat down and make a deal with him to serve you. Free tickets to the exhibit helped a lot. But still you had to figure it would take about three hours to get dinner. And if you were lucky you could get lunch in an hour and a half."

Smart Burglar

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A pound of raw hamburger aided a house burglar in escaping with $500 in jewelry.

He fed the meat to the family dog to keep him from barking. The hamburger was stolen from the family refrigerator.

In New Role

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — John F. Wacker is back at his old stamping ground but in a slightly different role. Wacker was a yeoman in 1942 when assigned to the Fifth Coast Guard District office here. After 17 years he is back as the boss with a commander's stripes on his sleeve.

Tigers Work Hard For Athens Test

Lack of depth, inexperience and two key injuries face the Circleville football Tigers on the eve of their opening game at Athens Friday.

Not dismayed by the factors against them, the Tigers are working hard this week in preparation for the season's lid-lifter. Efforts to gain precision and smoothness have been a main item of practice since Monday.

Coach Carl Benhase, aware that his force will meet a veteran Athens outfit, put the squad through a stiff scrimmage yesterday. The same pattern will continue today. The Tigers lack depth in every position, especially in the backfield. Another problem is the fact that Larry Hannahs and Harold Arledge are the only holdover regulars from last year.

BIGGEST concern at present is the ankle injury keeping Fullback Larry Hannahs below par and torn knee ligaments which have sidelined Center Pat Rooney.

Hannahs worked without pads yesterday and Rooney was at the field on crutches. Archie Ward, regular right halfback, sat out yesterday's practice with a sore throat, but should be ready for drills today.

Washington C.H. Trotter Shines

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Driver Bill Sargent of Washington Court House pulled off another victory, with Pro Mac, in the feature at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night. But it took some good luck to bring it off.

Sargent's good luck was bad luck to Sharon Reaper, a long legged trotter that rounded the last turn two lengths in the lead—then broke stride.

By the time Sharon Reaper picked up the beat again, the rest of the field has swept past the finish.

Pro Mac's winning trip of 2:09 2-5 returned $5.80 win.

Sue Ellen and Go Abbe combined for a $63 daily double. A crowd of 1,102 bet $40,184.

Eleven football players on the current North Carolina State roster are married.

17 Pacers Due in Brown Jug Trial

DETROIT (AP)—A field of 17 horses has been entered for the $22,050 Brown Jug trial Thursday night at the Wolverine Harness Raceway.

The trial for 3-year-old pacers will be run in two heats with the top five finishers in each heat coming back for a third.

Meadow Maid, owned by Delvin Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., is rated the favorite in the first heat, ahead of Wonderful Time, owned by George Tipling of Cleveland, and King Scott, owned by Robert Iseman of Ford City, Pa.

Others entered in the first heat are Adios Forever, Ohio Time, Culmer Pick, Time to Pace, and Royal G. Forbes.

Meadow Al, owned by the S. A. Camp Farms, Inc., of Shafter, Calif., is rated first in the second elimination heat. Other favorites Edgewood Arbiter, owned by W. L. Regan of Wilmington, Ohio.

Also entered in the second heat are Angel Wings, Vick's Jet, Smart Set, Mainsail, Butch Harmony and Red Red Robin.

Miller will drive Meadow Maid, already winner of $28,641 this year on 11 firsts, 2 places and 2 shows, in 21 starts.

Joe O'Brien will handle Meadow Al, winner of five races in 15 starts this year.

Ptacek Is Used As Browns' Half

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Ptacek, the rookie from Michigan, now is working out with the Cleveland Browns as an offensive halfback.

"We may have found the big halfback we need right here," Coach Paul Brown said Tuesday, pointing to Ptacek.

Sophomore Guard Subbing for White

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With first-string fullback Bob White out with a leg injury Ohio State is breaking in sophomore guard Mike Ingram at fullback Tuesday.

Coach Wood Hayes said Ingram from Bellare, where he starred at fullback, is being readied for possible action in the opener against Duke Sept. 26. Ingram is over the dizzy spells that bothered him earlier. White, of Covington, Ky., is expected to be out of action until next week.

In Tuesday's practice Terry Hansley of Cleveland moved past Bob Ferguson of Troy in the race for No. 1 left halfback.

Machen-Besmanoff Bout Due Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The stakes will be high for Eddie Machen and Willie Besmanoff when they meet tonight in a scheduled 10-round nationally televised (ABC, 10 p.m., EDT) heavyweight bout here.

Machen, Portlander, is rated No. 4 among the heavyweights. He wants a return bout with World Champion Ingemar Johansson, who knocked him out and handed him his only defeat.

Meanwhile Besmanoff, a German-born fighter out of Milwaukee, Wis., wants national rating. He could gain such a rating by beating Machen, once the leading heavyweight challenger.

Northwestern Taps 3 Ohio Gridders

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern University's football team will have four co-captains this fall—three of them Ohioans. Elected Tuesday by their teammates were tackle Gene Gossage of Wadsworth, Ohio, halfback Ron Burton of Springfield, Ohio, fullback Mike Stock of Barberton, Ohio, and center Jim Andreotti of Chicago. All are seniors except Stock, a junior.

If You've Read All the Bad News in This Paper...Here's Some Good News About Gin

Until now, gin has left the still with "rough spots" which distillers smother carefully with juniper and other aromatics.

Now there is a gin with the rough spots distilled out. It needs no aromatic disguises.

This gin is sipping-smooth and dry as Vermont wit. You can make a Martini with just the gin and ice (ending forever the question of how much vermouth). Or you can take it straight without one wince.

We call it Schenley Smooth American Gin, mostly because that's what it is. Sometimes when we're feeling less formal, we refer to it as "S.A." You can too, if you like.

Three things for you to remember: (1) Schenley, (2) Smooth American, (3) Gin.

By the way, the code number is 334B, the price is only $3.61 a fifth. Distilled from 100% Grain Neutral Spirits, eighty proof. Schenley Distillers Company, New York City.

Burdette, Jones To Match Slants In Vital Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The stage was set for the big series today as the National League's only 20-game winners, Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and San Francisco's Sam Jones, clashed in the first game of the season's most important two-game set.

The Giants, apparently free of their hitting doldrums, were comforted by the knowledge that even should the Braves knock them off in both games, the best Milwaukee could do is tie them for first place.

The Giants' lead today was two games, made possible by Tuesday's 13-6 conquest of Cincinnati coupled with Los Angeles' spectacular 8-7 comeback victory in 10 innings over the equally stubborn Braves.

The only thing that seems safe to predict at this point is that the race will go right down to the wire. That means the last three clubs — Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia — will play a vital role in determining the eventual winner.

On the final weekend of the campaign, Sept. 25, 26, 27, the Giants will play at St. Louis, the Dodgers at Chicago and the Braves will be host to Philadelphia.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 6-4 in the other NL game. Cold weather postponed Pittsburgh at Chicago.

Alarmed over the Giants' lack of base hits in recent days, Manager Bill Rigney shook up his lineup and his move paid immediate dividends. With Felipe Alou in right field and Jimmy Davenport at third base, the Giants smashed out of their hitting slump with eight runs in the first two innings. They massaged four Red hurlers for 13 hits, including home runs by Daryl Spencer and Willie McCovey.

Little Maury Mills was the hero of the Dodgers' thrilling triumph. The light-hitting shortstop, who seems to have come up with a loaded bat, had a perfect 5-for-5 at the plate, scoring three runs and driving in another. He has 15 hits in his last 24 times at bat.

He won't admit it, of course, but the only real problem Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox has today is a choice between Early Wynn and Billy Pierce as his opening game pitcher in the World Series.

Lopez, chairman of the board when it comes to nice guy managers, insists that there are a number of worries to be taken care of before he starts thinking about the series. But with his Sox 5½ games ahead and their magic number reduced to four with eight games to play in pursuit of their first American League pennant in 40 years, what problems he claims are imaginary.

Still, he was a limp—but happy—manager after his Sox kept down what comes naturally with a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday. He was less limp and even more happy a few hours later when Boston knocked off second place Cleveland 1-0.

In the other AL games, Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-1 in 11 innings and Washington split a twinnight pair with Kansas City, the Senators winning the opener 1-0 behind Camilo Pascual's three-hitter, then losing 6-2.

Young Athens Golfer Carries Proud Littler Clan Heritage

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Bobby Littler has a golf course in his back yard and a championship heritage in his back pocket.

The course is the Athens Country Club where his father is the host pro. There's a path that leads from the first fairway to the side door of the Littler home.

Golf enthusiasts in this southeastern Ohio city of 10,000 know the path goes farther than that. Right now, for instance, Bobby is in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he is the youngest player competing in the national amateur at Broadmoor Golf Club.

The freckled, blond high school junior echoed the sentiments of his followers before starting the trip by airplane Saturday: "I plan to play to win," he said. "But I know the competition will be keen, too. I've got a lot of folks behind me and they know I'll do my best."

Bobby won his first match Monday, 1-up over Herb Pollock Jr., of Pueblo, Colo.

Bobby is like his father in that they are both soft-speaking and modest. He could have said that just about every golf fan in this Hocking hill country is behind him. Many of them passed the hat to help raise travel fare for Bobby's trip.

Young Littler has someone else in his camp too, and that's where the golf heritage comes in. The 160-pound golfer is developing, step by step, in the traces left by professional Dow Finsterwald, of Athens, last year's PGA champion.

"Bobby has patterned his game after Dow's," explained Bob Littler, Sr., a long-time friend of the Athens champion now playing out of Tequesta, Fla. "He has the same style of swing and he puts about like Dow." Littler added.

Bobby's lessons started at an early age. He began tournament competition when he was eight, and today he has a table crowded with trophies. Highlights of his career include medalist in qualifying rounds for the 1958 national junior tournament, second qualifier in the Ohio jaycee tournaments in 1958-59, third in the Ohio junior and Great Lakes bantam tournaments last year, and finalist twice in district junior competition.

Although Bobby has never won a major title, he has gained regional attention for his extremely sharp game by a golfer his age. Sportswriters have recognized his potential.

Here again the youngster points to Finsterwald. "I guess I'm about as lucky as a guy could be to have someone like Dow helping me," said Bobby. "This summer when I played in the Rubber City at Akron, Dow took me around with him on his practice round. He showed me how he sizes up a course. I guess that's why I was able to finish fourth best among the amateurs."

"Bobby is a real champion in many ways," said Finsterwald on a recent visit to his hometown course. "Someday he'll be a golf champion to be proud of."

There doesn't seem to be any doubt about it. Bobby is filling a pair of the "biggest" shoes in the game today when he plays in the national amateur.

"The shoes?" he said shyly. "They're an old pair of Dow's; he gave 'em to me. They fit just fine."

Pinson Hits But Redleg Hurlers Falter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The batting average of Vada Pinson has slipped a trifle from his hot days earlier this summer but the Cincinnati Reds aren't worried.

Three hits by this semi-rookie headed the Reds' attack against San Francisco Tuesday and at 318, he's fourth in the National League.

The Giants won the game, 13-6, but that was mainly due to tender Redleg pitching.

Wally Moses, Redleg coach, said Tuesday of Pinson, "he's a player I have to predict will keep improving."

"Sure, his hitting average has dropped from the .330s. That's because he's a little tired. The kid has missed only two innings all season."

Mosis is impressed that Vada, a southside batter, hits southpaw pitching "actually about 20 points higher than against righties."

The Reds couldn't get back in Tuesday's game after the first inning when San Francisco played hob with Jay Hook and newcomer Claude Osteen, scoring five runs.

Ed Bailey hit his 12th homer in the fourth inning and Frank Thomas banged his 10th in the eighth. But the rest of Cincinnati scoring was hard wrung.

Johnny Temple and Pinson singled to open the first inning and after Gus Bell walked, Temple scored when Frank Robinson hit into a double play.

Pinson banged a double in the fifth—his 47th of the season, tying George Kelly's all-time Cincinnati mark. After Bell filled out, Jim Pendleton singled him home.

In the ninth, Whitey Lockman and Pinson singled, and Bell doubled in one run.

Mack Garner, a candidate this year for the National Jockeys Hall of Fame, died Oct. 28, 1936, of a heart attack after riding four races at River Downs, Ohio.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Bobby Littler has a golf course in his back yard and a championship heritage in his back pocket.

The course is the Athens Country Club where his father is the host pro. There's a path that leads from the first fairway to the side door of the Littler home.

Golf enthusiasts in this southeastern Ohio city of 10,000 know the path goes farther than that. Right now, for instance, Bobby is in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he is the youngest player competing in the national amateur at Broadmoor Golf Club.

The freckled, blond high school junior echoed the sentiments of his followers before starting the trip by airplane Saturday: "I plan to play to win," he said. "But I know the competition will be keen, too. I've got a lot of folks behind me and they know I'll do my best."

Bobby won his first match Monday,

Pinson Hits But Redleg Hurlers Falter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The batting average of Vada Pinson has slipped a trifle from his hot days earlier this summer but the Cincinnati Reds aren't worried.

Three hits by this semi-rookie headed the Reds' attack against San Francisco Tuesday and at 318, he's fourth in the National League.

The Giants won the game, 13-6, but that was mainly due to tender Redleg pitching.

Wally Moses, Redleg coach, said Tuesday of Pinson, "he's a player I have to predict will keep improving."

"Sure, his hitting average has dropped from the .330s. That's because he's a little tired. The kid has missed only two innings all season."

Moses is impressed that Vada, a southside batter, hits southpaw pitching "actually about 20 points higher than against righties."

The Reds couldn't get back in Tuesday's game after the first inning when San Francisco played hob with Jay Hook and newcomer Claude Osteen, scoring five runs.

Ed Bailey hit his 12th homer in the fourth inning and Frank Thomas banged his 10th in the eighth. But the rest of Cincinnati scoring was hard wrung.

Johnny Temple and Pinson singled to open the first inning and after Gus Bell walked, Temple scored when Frank Robinson hit into a double play.

Pinson banged a double in the fifth—his 47th of the season, tying George Kelly's all-time Cincinnati mark. After Bell filed out, Jim Pendleton singled him home.

In the ninth, Whitey Lockman and Pinson singled, and Bell doubled in one run.

Mack Garner, a candidate this year for the National Jockeys Hall of Fame, died Oct. 28, 1936, of a heart attack after riding four races at River Downs, Ohio.

66 Births; 20 Deaths In August

There were 66 births and 20 deaths in Pickaway County during August.

This was the peak month for births. August births totaled nine more than the next closest month, March, when 57 babies were born.

In July there were 40 births, but deaths amounted to 26 compared with August's 20. Boys continued to outnumber girls, 38 to 28.

August makes the sixth month of the year that boys have outnumbered girls. The present standings show boys totaling 220 and girls, 189.

SO FAR THIS year there have been 409 births and 205 deaths. All the births and 14 of the deaths were in Circleville while six deaths were in the County.

Birth and death statistics were obtained from the City and County Health Departments where state law requires these statistics to be filed.

Mental Hospital Improvements Cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 94 per cent of the recommendations for improving the state's mental hospitals, have been carried out to some degree, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has been informed.

He got the report from Jay W. Collins whom he appointed to make the hospital survey, completed in April.

Collins told DiSalle that 15 of his 90 basic recommendations have been fully implemented, four of them since mid-July. These four are: A standard policy of wearing uniforms; handwashing facilities in all kitchens; development of a handbook for employees, and distribution of existing blueprints for each hospital so repair work can be expedited and done at less cost.

Sky-Written Cross Floats over Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sky-written cross a mile and a half long floated over Washington as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev drove into the city today.

Nicholas T. Nonnenmacher, president of Christianism, said that anti-Communist information organization hired a New York skywriter to put up the cross in white smoke "just as a symbol of our faith."

Need Birth Record? Here's the Answer

The following article is the second of a three-part series on birth and death registration. The second article explains how to obtain certified copies of birth and death certificates and how to file a delayed death certificate. The series was compiled by Miss Mildred Wolfe, local registrar and clerk of the Pickaway County Health Department.

First thing to do in obtaining a birth or death certificate is to determine the exact place that the birth or death occurred.

Second is to write or come to the office of the proper place and request a certified copy of the birth or death record furnishing the correct information as to the name, date of birth or death, place of birth or death and parents names (mother's maiden name) for birth certificates.

Only births that have occurred since Dec. 20, 1908 are on file in the State Department of Health, Division of Vital Statistics.

In March 1867, the Ohio Legislature provided that certificates should be filed every three months with the Probate Judge of each county. Therefore, prior to December 20, 1908, births were recorded in the Probate Court of the county in which the birth occurred and in some of the health departments of larger cities.

AFTER DEC. 20, 1908 the Probate Court has no record of births that occurred in Pickaway County except some of those born in Circleville and Circleville Twp.

For all births after Dec. 20, 1908

Poor Relief Checks Doubled by State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Double-sized checks went out from the state today to county and city treasurers for distribution to local poor relief agencies.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said the distribution totaled $4,741,302. He said an advance for the usual September payments.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said the advance payments for poor relief would help counties that have become hard-pressed during the steel strike.

He said six counties had reported heavy poor relief requests. They were Mahoning, Trumbull, Stark, Lorain, Hamilton and Clark.

Rhodes also sent out $9,410,371 in automobile license fee money to county auditors.

original birth certificates were filed in the Division of Vital Statistics, Ohio Department of Health, Columbus. The local registrars of the health department makes copies of the original birth, stillbirth and death records.

After Berger Hospital was built and opened for use on June 1930, most of the new babies were born there. Very few are born in homes now.

Section 1261-66 of the General Code requires the local registrar of vital statistics to issue an exact copy of any record of birth, stillbirth or death which he may have in his possession for which he may receive a fee of $1 from the applicant.

State law provides that when a certified copy of any public record is required to determine the eligibility of any person to participate in benefits made available by the Veterans Bureau the official having custody of such record shall provide a certified copy free of charge.

This provision of law applies to all official records on file in public offices and does not pertain to birth, stillbirth and death certificates only.

IF THE PHYSICIAN or midwife who was in attendance at the time of birth failed to file a birth certificate for a birth that occurred since Dec. 20, 1908, the effective date of the state-wide compulsory birth registration law, a delayed certificate may be filed by the attending physician or midwife.

Even though the physician or midwife who officiated at a birth which occurred prior to 1908 is still living, a delayed birth certificate cannot be filed directly with the local registrar.

The delayed registration of all births that occurred prior to 1908 must be established by probate court procedure as provided by Section 1261-57 of the General Code.

If a record of a birth for a person who was born prior to Dec. 2, 1908 is not on file in the probate court or the health department, Section 1261-57 provides a statutory procedure for the establishment of a delayed registration of birth.

To file a delayed birth certificate pursuant to the delayed birth registration law, the individual must file an application in the probate court of the county of his birth, the county of his residence or the county in which the mother resided at the time of his birth.

The individual must furnish sufficient proof to satisfy the court and if the probate judge is satisfied that the statements contained in the application are true and accurate, he shall order the delayed registration of birth and shall transmit a certified copy of such order to the Ohio Department of Health where it shall be filed and recorded in the same manner as other birth records.

Medical Mirror

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Polycystic Disease Often Inherited

• Cigarettes and Veins
• Cancer

Q. Will you please discuss polycystic disease of the kidney?

A. This is a congenital condition, meaning that it is present at birth. Both kidneys are usually affected. They are enlarged and contain many (poly-) sac-like structures (cysts) which crowd out normal kidney tissue. The disease often occurs in two or more members of the same family and is frequently handed down from generation to generation. The condition is seldom helped by medical treatment. In some cases, progressive destruction of the kidney may be delayed and pain relieved by rupturing or draining all accessible cysts. Whether to operate is an individual problem.

Q. Does cigarette smoking have any effect on varicose veins?

—O. M.
A. All tobacco contains nicotine and it is mostly this part of tobacco that acts on the body. The action of nicotine is complicated and unpredictable so that the effects on any given person will vary. For example, smoking may cause constriction of blood arteries in some people, dilate these vessels in others, or cause neither dilatation nor constriction in still others. Because of this varied action, a direct yes or no answer can not be given to the question. It would seem logical for people with any sort of blood vessel disease to avoid the possible ill effects of nicotine. The attending physician would, however, be the final judge.

Q. Can it be proved that early detection of breast cancer gives the victim a better chance?

—A nurse.
A. Yes. University of Pennsylvania doctors recently conducted a study to determine what effect early detection of breast cancer has on survival. Records of 740 breast cancer patients were gone over in a very thorough fashion. The records showed quite well that early detection (symptoms present less than one month) increased the chance of survival. Until more is known about cancer in general and breast cancer in particular, our strongest defense is early detection.
